Public Meeting Wednesday to Initiate Town's Look at Cable TV

Cable television for Princeton? Not tomorrow, maybe, but in the next decade . . .

Come to a public hearing next Wednesday, October 17, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. Watch a film, listen to experts and exchange ideas with the nine-member committee of Princeton residents appointed by both mayors last May to study cable TV.

The Princeton committee was formed when the state-imposed moratorium on granting cable TV franchises was lifted last spring. The state requires a municipality to respond to any inquiry about cable TV within 90 days of a company's request. Also, the state warns that municipalities can't be "arbitrary" about awarding a cable TV contract.

In the past year, Princeton's governing bodies have received over half a dozen letter of inquiry from companies interested in Princeton as a cable TV town. In light of the law and the number of requests, the mayors decided it was essential to find out as much as possible about CATV, as it's called, so that Princeton can act wisely when the moment comes.

"We've done our homework," says Neil Peterson, of the Princeton CATV committee. "Now we want citizens to tell us their ideas before we make our report. It is NOT our role to screen applicants, or to try and sell CATV to Princeton. We're interested in what its implications might be for Princeton, what a town this size can offer, what a town as rich and varied as this can provide, under what conditions we would allow a company to come in."

After the public meeting next Wednesday, the CAT committee will hold meetings with three groups on Wednesday, October 24. "Post-secondary" institutions like the University, Mercer County Community College, the Princeton Adult School, Westminster Choir College, Educational Testing Service, Rider College, and so on; elementary and secondary schools and finally Princeton business, churches, medical facilities, non-profit agencies.

"We want to make sure they're aware of cable television and the work of our committee," explains committee member Morris Mayers. "We'd like them to start thinking about it from an institutional viewpoint."

At the public meeting next Wednesday, the audience will see a film, "Cable: The Immediate Future" made by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. A video tape will demonstrate the actual operation of a sophisticated cable TV system in California.

A booklet, "What's This Thing Called 'Cable?'" will be available, along with a sheet on CATV's implications for Princeton. The sheet was prepared by committee member Therese Critchlow. She's on the staff of the Princeton Public Library, but like other CATV committee members, she was appointed as a "citizen," not a representative of her organization.

"Many of us on this CATV committee had to learn what it's all about," smiles Mr. Peterson. So will Wednesday's audience. The book-

Housing Inspections Doubled Under New Law

Twice as many housing inspections were made in the second quarter of the Borough's new inspection ordinance as in the first quarter, reported Councilman Robert Powell to Borough Council Tuesday night, and that does not include the work of a new half-time inspector who started a short time ago.

In the past quarter, there were 52 inspections compared to 26 in the beginning, Mr. Powell said. So far, the Borough hasn't lost a single court case under the new ordinance, and the score is ten cases taken to court, with four convictions and six cases pending.

The Board of Health has directed its health officer, David Blake, to concentrate inspections in the John Street-Witherspoon Street area, Mr. Powell said, because "That's where the greatest relief is needed by tenants."

Complaints, however, are coming in from all over the Borough, the Councilman reported, listing Patton Avenue, Park Place, Moore Street, Murray Place, Erdman Avenue as pockets of discontent.

Two Fined, Paul E. Harvey, who owns units on Shirley Court, has been fined $25 and $5 court costs on three of his units, Benjamin Kahn was fined in connection with his property at 114 Witherspoon.

Another house owned by Mr. Kahn, at 120 Witherspoon, is under Mr. Blake's observation but Mr. Kahn hasn't been taken to court because he is "slowly fixing the house up," Mr. Powell explained. A tenant of the property complained, and Mr. Kahn decided to evict the five tenants and convert the house to a single family unit.

There seemed to be a question of reprisal action in Mr. Kahn's decision to convert, so a legal aid lawyer was retained, Mr. Powell said. The attorney blocked an eviction and the tenants are still there. Mr. Powell observed that it was difficult to make repairs quickly with tenants living in the house. He listed lack of a bathroom light, inadequate kitchen light and holes in the flooring as among the violations.

What to Do About PHS?

The first in a series of public meetings about the future of the Princeton High School building will be held next Wednesday, October 17, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the school.

The school board will explain four options open to the Princeton community: build a new school for $9 million; make alterations and additions for $5 million or, alternatively, for $4 million; do minimal renovation for $1 million.

Brochures, showing pictures of the obsolescent building and equipment, have been mailed throughout the community by the school board. The presentation highlights each of the four options, which will be described in detail at Wednesday's meeting.

001, 008, 009 . . . Who are they and what do they do? They are HERMAN GEIST sweater knits. 001 has long sleeves and a scoop neck. 008 has long sleeves and a V neck. 009 is the long sleeved turtle neck. The fabric? 100% acrylic, looks and feels like zephyr wool.

A great weight to wear over a shirt or by itself. Sizes small, medium and large in many colors . . . washes beautifully, by hand or machine. These versatile, attractive sweater knits are available now at LANDAU, 114 Nassau Street, Princeton, N.J.

Health inspection furor in the state may be reflected in Princeton, Mr. Powell warned Council. A ruling from the state Attorney General's office seems to deny a local health officer the right to close dirty restaurants unless the officer gets a court order. The Borough attorney is exploring the law to see whether the Borough could enact its own ordinance giving the health officer closing powers.

Bicycle Paths Approved. Council unanimously passed the bike-path construction ordinance, providing $30,000 for widening and building Phase I paths. Only one bump in the road: the unanimous objection of the Borough's Traffic Safety Committee. It would prefer first priority to new sidewalks.

Traffic Safety is particularly anxious about curb cuts. But Council member Barbara Sigmund said she'd conferred with officials in Chicago, where there are 20 ramps (similar to cuts) in heavy traffic areas of the inner city. No accidents in a 15 month period, she declared.

Incidentally, both Borough and Township have been forced to enact complicated little ordinances providing for paths on Franklin Avenue, which is partly in one municipality, partly in the other.

No appointments yet to a consolidation study committee, acknowledged Mayor Robert W. Cawley. He said he was trying to harmonize his appointments with those of Township Mayor Jay Bleiman to obtain the widest possible expertise.

Private Bus System Asked. A letter from the Environmental Commission asked Council to encourage a private-enterprise bus system for Princeton. Legally, the Borough doesn't seem to have the power to license a bus, Mayor Cawley replied, and economically, officials don't think a private bus would work.

The League of Women Voters asked formation of a task force to study problems of stream encroachment, flood control, soil erosion and stricter enforcement of planning board regulations to prevent a repetition of reported damage done to Harry's Brook in Queenston Common.

Councilman Thomas Cawley, Borough representative on the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, said the Borough still urgently wants to meet with Federal environmental protection officials on the Authority's plan for sewerage in its six town area by using one treatment plant.

Mr. Cawley said he thinks the state is anxious to keep the Authority alive because of a belief in the regional approach to solving sewer problems. The Authority has passed a resolution, Mr. Cawley said, asking the state to combine into a single package the applications of four Authority communities for collector line money.

It has been reported that there isn't any more Federal money for these lines. Pennington, the two Hopewells and West Windsor must have lines in order to hook into any sewer system.

Mayor Cawley appointed Mrs. Marian Tally, 58 Wiggins, to the Rent Levelling Board, replacing a tenant representative who moved out of the Borough. William Bartolino was named to the Joint Recreation Commission.

000 in tax revenues to the municipal treasury.

Formal approval by the Lawrence Planning Board is required before ground can be broken. The center, one of four proposed for the Route One area in Lawrence, was first projected in the latter part of the last decade. Kravco has apparently made more rapid headway than other developers in solving zoning, planning, sewage disposal and traffic problems.

POLICE ISSUE CAUTION

On Selling Ploy. A warning has been issued by Chief Michael Carnevale to the community, especially senior citizens, to be on the alert for the latest selling ploy uncovered by the police.

In the Stanworth area Monday morning, two women selling scarves door to door gained access to an apartment. While one was displaying the wares, the other ransacked a bedroom, taking three rings valued at $900.

The two suspects were described as Puerto Rican. One was between 35-40, with four gold teeth, wearing much jewelry. The other was described as heavy-set, between 25-30.

Nine Who Will Serve on CATV Committee

The nine citizens who compose Princeton's CATV Committee were chosen as citizens only, but the combination of their expertise and the organizations they work for make them quite an unusual group. Here they are:

Herbert Ahelson, president of Response Analysis Corporation; Ken Bowers, media specialist for Princeton's schools; Therese Critchlow, of the Public Library staff; Jean Firstenberg, on the public affairs staff at Princeton University.

Barbara Lependorf, attorney; Morris Mayers, TV systems consultant to education and industry; Neil Peterson, of the E.M. Clark

Foundation; the Rev. Floyd N. Rhodes, of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church; and William M. Webster, vice-president, RCA Labs.

This committee selected another group of experts to talk with institutions at the October 24 meeting. They are Dr. Harold Wigren, of the National Education Association; Ellen Roberts of the Cable Television Information Center an arm of the Urban Institute of Washington; Joseph Durand, director of the division of instructional television at Rutgers and Joseph L. DiStefano, director of instructional technology for the state's Department of Education.

Cable TV Studied

let and film will help

Cable television is a coaxial cable connected into the subscriber's home. The home owner or subscriber pays around $20 for installation, and about $5 a month thereafter.

Basically, cable TV improves reception. It eliminates the need for any antenna. It improves reception of UHF stations.

Beyond that, however, is infinity. With cable TV, viewers can see local programming: sit in an armchair and watch the arguments fly at a school board meeting, or observe the give-and-take at Borough Council. Political candidates? Right in everybody's living room.

Educationally, a subscriber could take a Princeton Adult School course. Concerts, dance recitals — all the cultural events that proliferate in Princeton could become widely available.

"It could revolutionize a community's life," observes Mr. Peterson, and he cites one estimate that 80 to 85 percent of the country may well be wired for CATV in the next decade.

Federal law mandates three channels: one for education, one for state and local government and one for public use. A subscriber can, of course, continue to get regular channels.

"Leased access" channels would be available, too, at additional cost. Princeton University, for example, might want just a few classrooms covered; perhaps a bank's officers would want a closed-circuit meeting with nobody else present. Or a school might lease half a channel for a few hours each day.

What about Programming? Who decides what will go on CATV's channels? Well, Morristown, which Princeton's group visited, has a citizens' committee whose members work with the company on programming. This isn't required, but given Princeton's commitment to citizens' committees, it seems a likely development here. The company may not censor, by the way, although public access channels can't give lottery information.

Within the limits set by state and Federal law, a town can be strict; for example, Redlands, California, has spelled out technical requirements in great detail, whereas, New York City has a much looser set of technical requirements.

Towns that have put as much time and study into cable TV as Princeton has, may have the background and skill to negotiate franchises offering more in the way of, say, public services or educational programming.

The way the law works in New Jersey, a cable operator makes a bid to get a franchise allowing the company to sell its services in the community. This application is filed with the Office of Cable Television.

The municipality then passes an enabling ordinance, probably incorporating specifications the company must follow. There is the usual procedure of a public hearing, and then final passage.

Measure Still on Table. The Township's firearms amendment and that Ewing Street sidewalk, both tabled last week, were still on the table as the agenda was being drawn up for next Monday's meeting. Administrator Joseph R. Nini said he didn't know whether Committee planned to act Monday on either one.

Public hearings will be held Monday on several ordinances introduced last week: the $6,600 supplementary appropriation allowing the Township to buy the Houghton Castoro canal strip for open space, the $30,000 appropriation to fix infiltration problems in the Hillside Avenue sewer and a proposal to rename the "J" road after the late B. Franklin Bunn, former mayor of the Township.

READY TO ROLL

Bike Bid Re-Worked. Bike path construction in the Township may begin in ten days or two weeks. Committee scheduled a special meeting for this Wednesday to accept a revised construction bid from Castoro and Co. After adoption of the bid, construction can begin in ten days.

Castoro's original bid was $40,472.75, higher than the appropriated $40,100. "We negotiated a figure with the company," explained Administrator Joseph R. Nini this week, "and reduced the bid by $4,600."

Mr. Nini said the company's original estimate had been based on the amount of anticipated hand work; many walks, for example, will be widened by one foot on each side. The firm also expected

Chemistry, Not Frost, Causes Autumn's Blush

"Just wait 'til the first good frost, then you'll see the leaves change color."

That piece of folk wisdom is as old the hills, but, according to the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, it is just not true.

In fact, frost actually reduces the impact of autumn foliage's vivid colors. Frost injures or kills the leaves before the coloration processes complete their development.

Nature's autumnal artist is actually a matter of chemistry. With the passing of late summer and the approach of early fall, leaf synthesis of chlorophylls, the green pigments which have given leaves their color throughout the summer, ceases and the chlorophylls already present are disintegrated at an accelerating rate.

As the chlorophyll greens disappear, the yellow and orange pigments (termed carotenes and xanthophylls), already present in the leaves, but previously masked by the more abundant chlorophylls, become apparent. Also, at this time of year, bright weather may stimulate the leaves to produce more anthocyanins, thus adding reds, blues and purples to the display.

Several locations in New Jersey usually experience particularly good displays of fall foliage. To the south, the Mays Landing area and south along the Great Egg Harbor River are good possibilities. Also, there's the Smithville region and north-west through the cranberry bogs of southeastern Burlington County.

To the north likely areas are north of the Wanaque Reservoir in northwestern Passaic County and Sunrise Mountain in the northeastern portion of Stokes State Forest in Sussex County.

completions in the form of shrubs or trees to be side-stepped, he said.

BUDGET HEARING

For Sewer Operating Committee. Everyone interested in the 1974 budget for Princeton's Joint Sewer Operating Committee is invited to Borough Hall next Tuesday, October 16, at 8 p.m.

At that time, the Committee will listen to public suggestions and comments about the forthcoming budget.

"CROSSTOWN" DELAYED

Need Drivers. Start of Princeton's "Crosstown '62" transportation program for the elderly has been delayed, perhaps until next week because the two drivers for the stationwagon haven't yet been hired. The program was scheduled to start this week.

The Red Cross is administering the program for Borough and Township. Mrs. Ann Honore, executive director of the Red Cross said this week that she has hired a dispatcher for "Crosstown" but still needs to complete driver screening.

CAR, BIKE COLLIDE

At Franklin and Ewing. A car and a bicycle collided Saturday evening at 6 at the intersection of Franklin and Ewing.

The cyclist, 7 year old Leon The cyclist, 7 year old Leon and Duckman, 202 Ewing St., was taken by his father to Princeton Medical Center where he was treated for a bruised right leg. Ptl. Kerry Klink issued no charges against the driver, Frank A.

Boccanfuso Jr., 23 32 Oakland Road. Mr. Boccanfuso told police that he was turning right from Franklin onto Ewing when "all of a sudden this bike came out of nowhere." Police quoted the young cyclist as saying he thought the car was going straight because it did not have its blinker on. Mr. Boccanfuso told police that his blinker was on.

3 HOMES ENTERED

During Daylight. Three Township homes, two on Hartley Avenue and the other on nearby McCosh Circle, were entered Thursday between 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Seventy-five dollars from a wallet on a dresser in a master bedroom was taken between 10:30 and noon from the home of Robert C. Tucker, 41 Hartley. Although the house had been searched, nothing else was taken.

Police said that entry was through a bathroom window after the intruder had first removed a screen. Ptl. Anthony Gaylor investigated.

A $415 calculator, wrist watch, clock and coins with a total value of $630 were taken between 1:10 and 5:04 from the home of Richard K. Toner, 50 McCosh Circle. The house was ransacked.

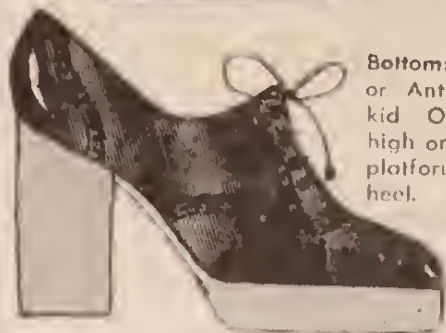

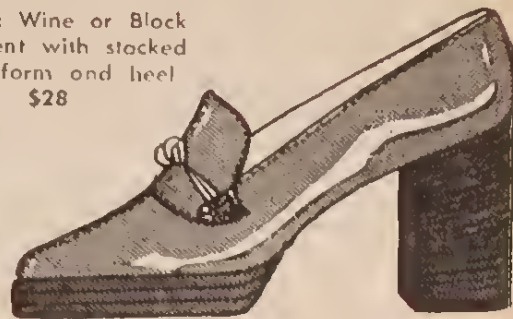

Police said that the intruder first entered a breezeway door and then broke a pane of glass in a kitchen door, reached in and unlocked the door. A bottle of champagne taken from the kitchen refrigerator was later found half-empty behind a stereo speaker in the living room. Ptl. Jerry Offredo and Ptl. Rena Kaminski responded to the owner's call reporting the entry.

Newell Brown, 52 Hartley Avenue, called police after he and his wife noticed that the side door to their garage had been forced open upon their return at 5:50 p.m. Mr. Brown told Sgt. David Potts, who investigated, that his wife had left the house about noon.

Once inside the garage, the door forced open a door leading to the kitchen area. There was evidence that drawers and dressers throughout the house had been rifled but police report that nothing appears to have been taken.

A can of beer removed from the refrigerator was partially drunk and the remains poured in a silverplated bowl in the dining room.

POLITICS

Borough Traffic safety this week occupied the two Democratic candidates for Council, both incumbents seeking a second term. They are Joseph P. Moore, who is Council president and Police Commissioner, and Martin P. Lombardo.

Both candidates cited "the Borough's accomplishments on traffic safety this past year." They pointed out that the Traffic Safety Committee, "formerly composed entirely of Borough officials, has been expanded by the Democratic Council majority to include citizen members."

"We were able to block Mercer County from increasing the speed limit on Harrison Street and were able to get state approval for four new traffic lights that are badly needed," the candidates declared. The lights will be at Stockton and Elm, Washington and Prospect, Harrison and Prospect and Harrison and Franklin.

The Stockton and Elm signal is to be paid for by the state. The candidates promise "to get early Borough funding and installation of the other three lights."

Mr. Moore, as Police Commissioner, praised the new police "radar gun," designed to catch those who speed on short streets. "It is very popular and has paid for itself in a very short time," he commented, adding that the Borough has had many requests from parents to use it on various streets.

Township Republican candidates for Township Committee, Everett Garretson and Sanford Reynolds, this week came out in favor of consolidation with the Borough. "We are nearing the time where many of the fears of consolidation can be overcome," they declared.

"Previous study groups have indicated that the tax differential between the Borough and the Township may have diminished to the point where the difference is minute," the candidates said.

"Furthermore, State Senator William Schluter has introduced a bill into the legislature which would provide for tax abatement in the consolidation of two communities. If passed, this bill will eliminate some of the problems immediately."

"From a practical point of view, we will be able with consolidation to provide better services to a larger community if we avoid the fragmentation of time, effort and expenditures that now exists."

"We must be very sure,"

the candidates cautioned "to elect the governing body by a system that assures equal representation for all parts of the community. And we must guarantee that no one who is now on either the Borough or the Township payroll will suffer loss of income."

IDEAS ON RECREATION?

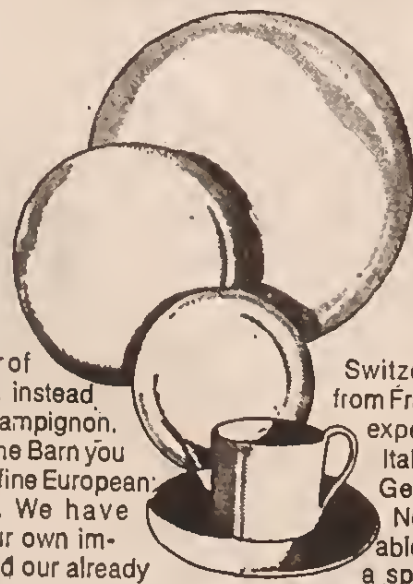

Attend Tuesday Meeting. The Joint Recreation Board which will hold its October meeting Tuesday evening at 8:15 in Township Hall, is looking for all the recreation information and advice it can get from the community.

Recreation Director R. Donald Barr explained that the board will soon be making up its budget for the coming year. Before it does, it would like to hear any suggestions that residents may have that will aid them in preparing the budget.

Later in the year, the public will have an opportunity to go over the proposed budget with the board in another public meeting.

Also at the Tuesday meeting, the board will give progress reports on the resurfacing of the two new paddle tennis courts, renovation of ball fields in Community Park and capital balance requests for minor improvements to the pool and refreshment area.

PRINCETON MAN JAILED

On Drug, Contempt Charges. Harold "Doc" Humes, 47, 11 Madison Street, was arrested in his apartment last week by Det. Anthony Ranfone and Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt on a warrant charging him with contempt of court. Humes has failed to appear in court to face previous charges by Borough police.

When the arresting officers walked into his room, they allegedly saw quantities of marijuana and hashish in open view. Humes was charged with possession of over 100 grams of the two drugs.

He was held in $500 bail on the contempt charge and $250 bail on the drug charges and later taken to Mercer County Jail in lieu of bail.

Morrisville Man Charged

Harry L. Marshall, 35, of Morrisville, Pa., has been charged by Borough police, with obstructing and interfering and using loud and offensive language.

The charges are a result of toward Borough meter officer Marshall, becoming abusive Mary Copper as she was walking down Spring Street last Wednesday afternoon. He was later released in his own recognizance, pending an appearance in Borough court October 17.

FUND DRIVE LAUNCHED

By Women Voters. The League of Women Voters of the Princeton area has begun a fund drive to enable it to

Register Your Bike

The third annual Light-a-Bike and bicycle registration program sponsored by Borough police behind Borough Hall will be held October 15-19 from 3 to 6 and on Saturday, the 20th, from 9 'til noon. There is no charge.

Police will attach reflectorized tape to several parts of each bicycle and stamp a serial number into the frame. That number plus a description of the bike and the owner's name will be kept on file by the police. So far, more than 1,000 bikes have been registered.

The program is conducted by Det. Douglas Watson, assisted by the department's new police trainee from Princeton High School, Ted Stauffer. It has been successful in enabling police to return a number of recovered bicycles to their owners.

SHE SUPPORTS SCHLUTER: Diane Graves of Princeton, environmental leader in both the county and state, has declared her support for Sen. William Schluter in District 14. Mrs. Graves was active on behalf of the senator in his previous campaign two years ago.

continue its program of non-partisan education and information.

Letters asking for contributions have been sent to the residents of Montgomery, Princeton and West Windsor. Personal visits by members of the League are also planned.

Mrs. Elaine Bezilla, president of the Princeton area LWV, pointed out that in addition to its work in areas of national concerns, the League is also concerned with specific programs in each municipal unit.

The Montgomery unit includes a water committee which focusses on the issues of conservation and maintenance of clean water. The planning and land use committee attends to the Township ordinances, making sure they conform to the master plan.

In Princeton, the League's local government committee studies various forms of municipal government. The public policy, housing and environment study group evaluates zoning and housing policies to see that they further the goal of a balanced community offering a variety of housing types.

A new study group in the West Windsor area will gather information on the history, government, politics, education, zoning, planning, health and other aspects of government for a study to be published late in 1974. The land use and recreation committee continues its work for zoning changes and flexible land use, and works in support of expanded recreation programs and facilities.

Coordinator of the fund-raising effort is Mrs. Clo Treves.

AID TO ISRAEL SOUGHT

By Area Groups. The Jewish Center of Princeton and local chapters of B'nai B'rith, Hadassah and the United Jewish Appeal held a rally Tuesday to launch the Israel Emergency Drive, aimed at providing funds to maintain social welfare services in Israel in the wake of the recent fighting.

Mrs. Hazel Stix, chairman of the Princeton United Jewish Appeal, said that contributions are tax deductible, since they would not support the military effort. Contributions can be made to the UJA, Box 385, Princeton.

SQUARE DANCE PLANNED

In West Windsor, The West Windsor Recreation Committee will hold a Hallowe'en square dance party Saturday, October 27, from 8 to 11 at the Maurice Hawk School. Art Seale, caller for the Rutgers Promenaders, will call the dance.

Chairman of the event is Fran Guzy. Vice-chairman is Jackie McLaughlin. Residents wishing to help in the planning and organizing are asked to contact either of them.

STEAM IN WEST WINDSOR

Politics. The political kettle is still steaming in West Windsor. Republicans deny Democratic charges that they are "afraid to debate." Democrats attack Republican incumbents for stalling on township planning.

Incumbent Charles Holman and Selden Tinsley are running for election to West Windsor Township Committee on the Republican ticket. William Stuart, who once sat on Committee and was defeated for re-election in 1967 by Mr. Holman, is running on the Democratic ticket with Peter J. Flatow.

Mr. Holman explained this week he did not attend a joint Republican Democratic meeting September 23 because of two previous commitments, one with the township's Rescue Squad. He said, "I defeated Bill Stuart for re-election in 1967. Let him tell the people why he was turned out of office."

Meanwhile, Mr. Stuart and Mr. Flatow pledge "intense planning activity" toward adoption of residential control ordinances, and declare that, if elected, they will require weekly meetings for six months by the West Windsor Planning Board and Environmental Commission, and regular public reports on progress toward a master plan. They urge a cluster ordinance, and adoption of standards for licensing builders in the township. West Windsor has a two-year moratorium on building and the candidates want action during the moratorium period.

"I'm amazed and shocked by statements that GOP candidates are afraid to debate," said the Republican Mr. Tinsley. "We'd be happy to meet our opponents again when they've studied Ben Franklin's simple rules of discussion and Emily Post's simple rules of good manners."

BAKE SALE SATURDAY

In West Windsor, This Saturday between 9 and noon the Twin W Association will have a Tailgate Bake Sale. Members of the Association will be driving cars full of food for sale throughout various West Windsor neighborhoods.

Anyone interested in donating home baked goods should call 799-0741 on or before Thursday. All proceeds of the sale will be used to support the first aid services of the Twin W First Aid Squad, Inc. of West Windsor Township.

Youth Center Opens Drive for New Members

The whole community is invited to the Princeton Youth Center this Sunday afternoon at 3 for an "Open House," and kids in middle school and high school are urged to sign up as Youth Center members during the October-long drive that got underway last week.
(Middle School $7.50, High School $10)

Poetry, some of it written by Center youths, dance and drama demonstrations of their own work by Center members will be part of Sunday afternoon's festivities. Also, Princeton residents will have a chance to meet members of the Center's board.

The membership campaign is a new idea, according to Leonard Brown, executive director of the Center, and he is "geared," he says, to expect a membership of about 200, from 12 to 18 years, approximately.

"The United Fund has recommended a membership structure each year they've evaluated us," we're a Fund agency," he explains, "but also, we wanted to define and solidify somewhat; we want to be able to do special things for what you might call 'Youth Center Folk.' What we're offering members would cost $18.50 if a kid took part in each activity separately, so it's a saving."

White youths as well as black youths are welcome on the membership list.

"We hope white kids will come," Mr. Brown says, "I think the Speak-outs last spring broke some of the myths about the Center and showed white kids that at least the Center's staff, is not hostile."

"But we'll continue the same kind of programs, and we hope white members will understand that the Center is a black frame of reference, just the way the 'Y' is primarily a white frame of reference."

Through a mailing list, the Center has already communicated with white parents, and at least one has signed a youngster on as a member.

Something else new — Subscription membership in the Hansberry Arts Workshop, whose first play will be given this weekend (see "Theatre-res.") With a subscription comes admission to three shows, dances after performances, a news-letter, invitational opening of art exhibits, talks with playwrights.

Next Thursday, starting early in the morning at 8:30 a.m., high school students can participate in "Career Day," sponsored jointly by the Center,
Mt Pisgah AME Church and Princeton High. The
"Day" will be held at the church, and the day before, two career assemblies will be held at the high school. Kids will be released from school on Thursday to join the career sessions.

"With ETS and the high school, we explored the whole area of career counseling and decided to run this jointly,"
Mr. Brown says, "but the Center will have continuous career counseling all year: in the fall, for high school juniors and seniors and in the spring, for freshmen & sophomores."

In charge of career counsel for the Center is Khadiza Abdul-Muizz. She will run workshops in how to apply for a job, how to be interviewed, how to finance training for a career. Next year, she'll supervise "whatever" summer jobs are available!

"We're broadening this year to cover all careers, not only college," Mr. Brown says,
"we hope we can run a small visitation program, with kids visiting a plant, or campus." Adults will be welcomed into the Youth Center too. Kids and parents don't get together wholesomely often enough," is Mr. Brown's observation, "and we'd like to arrange that as often as possible."

Under the leadership of Jab by Holmes, formerly part time, at the Center and now full-time, there will be card

YOUTH CENTER — "WE'RE READY!" Leonard Brown, executive director of the Princeton Youth Center, and Mrs. Charrate Gipsan, administrator of the Center, are starting the new season with an Open House this Sunday and a month-long membership drive for October.

parties for adults — probably the end of this month — and bingo Adults, not eligible for membership, will pay for each individual event.

Mr. Holmes will also work with the "Y" to set up basketball teams — including one for girls — and other athletic activities. For example, boxing at the YMCA will begin October 30, and will be held each Tuesday and Thursday from 7-9 p.m.

The Ayle dancers, about 20 of them, are creating and learning again under the guidance of Terrie Austin. She also has a group of about 20 middle-school-age girls who come from Trenton to work with her.

From this nucleus, the Center hopes to put a show together which might perform for high schools, neighborhood centers in the area and audiences at Trenton State College.

Terry Steaple, who runs the Hansberry workshop, will probably give "studio" productions — plays by playwrights not yet well known, or writers who live in the area
— as he did last year. Plays like these might be presented at one of the coffee hours planned by the Center — maybe a coffee-hour every six weeks.

Trips to rock concerts, to Atlantic City for fun, to the theatre, to an athletic event, are on the Center's agenda for the coming season and, again,
Mr. Brown says, "We hope to have a mix of black and white kids."

After the membership drive has ended, the Center will start a Birthday Dinner program. Each month, the Center will be host at a Birthday Dinner for all the members whose birthdays come in that month. Drive closes Hallowween.

COLONIAL BALL PLANNED

To Aid Career Awards Program. A colonial ball, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce on behalf of Career Development Awards, will be held on the night of November 3 at the Hun School.

Career Development Awards is the pioneering community-supported program which has been assisting gifted students to train for vocational, commercial, service-oriented and technical occupations during the last four years.

The proceeds from the ball will be disbursed by Career Development Awards in the form of financial grants and honors awards to deserving high school graduates at the end of the school year.

Prior to the ball, a number of Princetonians will be entertaining friends at private dinners or elsewhere. After 9 p.m., the various parties, attired in black tie or colonial costumes, will meet at the Hun School for the dance.

Invitations to the ball are in the mail now, but tickets at $25 per couple, can also be obtained from the offices of the Chamber of Commerce at 44 Nassau Street. Those unable to attend, but wishing to contribute may do so in the form of $5 individual patron donations or $10 business sponsor donations. All patrons' and sponsors' names will appear in the printed program and contributions may be mailed to the Chamber offices.

ART AUCTION SCHEDULED

In West Windsor. The Democratic Club of West Windsor will hold an art auction Sunday at the home of Mrs. Harriet Kaplan in Dutch Neck. A preview of the paintings, lithographs and metal sculpture begins at 2 and the auction starts at 3. Admission is $1.50.

HOPEWELL PARADE SET

For Veterans' Day. Top-notch drum and bugle corps and bands will fill the air with music as thousands of marchers will be in the line as the Mercer County American Legion conducts its annual Veterans Day program in Hopewell, on Sunday, October 21. The first unit will step off at 2 p.m.

Adding color to the parade will be "locomotives" from Camden and Trenton. The locomotives are replicas of French locomotives.

High school bands in the parade include the drill team, color guard and approximately 75 musicians from Reynolds Junior High School, the 100-plus Cardinal Band of Lawrence High School, and the host-band from Hopewell Valley Central High School.

Drum and Bugle Corps will include The Volunteers Senior Drum and Bugle Corps from Lambertville, The Black Watch Drum and Bugle Corps from Manville, and the Saints Drum & Bugle Corps from Fords. All four corps have won honors in competitions this past summer. The American Federation of Musicians, Local 62 Band under the direction of Gino Mülle will also march.

Color guards galore will decorate the parade as representatives from some ten veterans organizations and their Auxiliaries will be joined by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Naval Sea Cadets, Civil Air Patrol, Khufu Temple Shriners, ROTC Units, and majorette groups.

The New Jersey National Guard will have a complement in the parade and will be followed by many of Mercer County's volunteer fire companies and their auxiliaries.

"Sea Gull," Good, Sound Chekhov,
Launches New Season at McCarter

Frank Converse as Trigorin in "The Sea Gull," currently in repertory at McCarter

Princeton University's McCarter Theatre Company opened its 1973-74 season last Thursday with a production of "The Sea Gull," which, if a bit soft at the center, is so brilliant around the edges that we predict a highly successful run for it.

Performed here in a "new English version" by Jean Claude van Itallie about which more later, this masterpiece by Anton Chekhov is a difficult play to act because although its author labeled it a comedy he did not filter out of it elements of drama and tragedy and even farce. The result is that it is "Hamlet"

one moment and "Hay Fever" the next, with, in this production, recognizable traces of "Private Lives," "LUV," and, say, "Milk."

Chekhov gathered these somewhat incompatible elements into one play because he wanted to depict Real Life, in which comedy, drama, and tragedy do come at us in rapid succession. But such a play runs the risk of crumbling into its disparate elements unless it is held together by the intense, almost hypnotic, believability of its characters, and by a pervasive tone and style. All of the players on opening night achieved the essential degree of believability except those at the very center of the play. Daniel Seltzer did so most impressively as Sorin, the ill, aging, frustrated gentleman farmer who retains his spirit and humor and warmth of heart. His performance is so achingly funny and true that we forget we are observing a play and are unaware of shifts from one dramatic level to another. We hesitate to single out one component of a performance so continuously flawless and inspiring as Seltzer's, but students of acting should observe what he gets into the act of listening!

Total Credibility. Other comparably believable performances include Karl Light's as Dr. Dorn, an MD hanger-on in Sorin's Russian plantation household, a man who never sits down when he can lie down and who at 55 retains enough sex appeal to captivate the farm manager's wife, Pauline, played with a lovely dry wit and total credibility by Alice Drummond. Both actors establish so strong a bridgehead of believability in the viewer's mind that when they play a passionate love scene standing on a bench one buys it down to the smallest gesture.

Fern Sloan as Masha, the farm manager's daughter, bitter because she loves and is loved in vain, is believable and darkly good looking besides. I. M. Hobson, who to our knowledge has never drawn an unbelievable breath on stage, is excellent as Masha's ludicrously pathetic, ever-loving, ever-losing husband, Gene Gross as the farm manager not only decides with high handed authority who can have a horse but he miraculously emanates the spirit of a smart farm animal.

Of the actors who play roles closer to the center of the play, Dwight Schultz as Sorin's nephew, Treplev, struck this reviewer as more convincing than the others, and especially so in the final act. But he seemed insufficiently touched by the spirit of comedy. True, it's a challenge. How do you make comedic a poor, mother-love-starved young man who wants to shoot himself and finally does?

We suggest the clue is in Chekhov's having projected him as a writer. Writers are weird, double-jointed people, never so intent on what they are saying (or feeling) that they are unaware of how they are saying it. This is a fact of the comedy called life. Think of Sylvia Plath writing poems with wit and bite up to the very day she put her head in an oven.

Appropriately Handsome. As poor Trepnev's mother, and Sorin's sister, the successful Moscow actress Madame Arkadin, we have Irene Dailey, who is appropriately handsome and actressy, but who on opening night seemed somehow not to be just the kind of actress Sorin's sister (and Chekhov's brain daughter) would have been. Again, like Trepnev, she too often exists on only one level at a time.

She plays a scene with her son as if it were out of "Medea" and immediately thereafter a scene with her lover, Trigorin, as if this were "Private Lives." And this is more or less what the play demands. But it also demands that the two scenes contain, embedded in the characters, a strong common denominator: the spirit of Chekhovian comedy, in which keen intelligence, self awareness, sensitivity and humor are all components.

Frank Converse is an interesting presence on stage but he falls short, for us, of total convincingness as Trigorin, the best selling novelist, because he, too, plays too much on one level. There is some lack in the relationship between himself and the words he speaks.

Trigorin is a dedicated writer and yet in key scenes the actor's voice is often so filled with emotion that we become more conscious of what Trigorin is feeling than of what he is thinking. And the feelings of this sexually susceptible, nonstop motemaker are not important; it is the man's mind, his gift for language, that make him matter! (Surely it was partly to warn actors against overplaying the emotions and underplaying the intelligences of these characters that Chekhov labeled "The Sea Gull" a comedy.)

Star - Crossed. And finally there is Cara Duff Mac Cormick as Nina, the star-crossed neighbor girl whom Trepnev adores and Trigorin seduces after she follows him off to Moscow. She is girlishly appealing but fails to project the womanly strength and resolve, only implied at first but evident in the writing of her final scene, needed to make her believable as the committed career actress Chekhov meant her to be. After all, not only did he name the play for her, or for the nickname she gives herself, but he wrote for her a speech about how patient dedication to one's vocation can dispel the fear of life, which is surely one of the play's most stirring statements.

The new van Itallie version did not seem to us strikingly, and certainly not jarringly different from the 1938 Stark Young translation. It plays well, and where our ear detected a change we nearly always thought it for the better. Where we caught an echo of the older translation by Constance Garnett we liked it.

Don't go, or stay away, because you expect, or fear, a conspicuously van Itallied "Sea Gull." This is a good, sound version of a great, rich, teasing play, and it's still Chekhov all the way.

Everything one says in a review is in a sense said to, and of, the director. Louis Criss deserves a special thanks, though, for his direction of this engrossing production. The setting by Robert U. Taylor is first rate, as are the costumes by Linda Fisher and the lighting by John McLam, and we liked the servants as played by E. E. Norris, Darcy Achinger, and Rachel Feldman.

A happy, significant surprise in this year's program is a list of nearly 175 individuals, families and business concerns who have contributed funds to help support the McCarter Company. For lining up this much needed and long overdue community involvement, credit goes to Mary Wisnowsky, Community Relations Director, and the Board of Directors of the generous "McCarter Associates."

McNally and May. Plays by Elaine May and Terence McNally will be offered on a double bill opening next weekend at Murray Theatre under Theatre Intime's direction.

"Adaptation," by Elaine May, and "Next," by Terence McNally are on the program, both directed by Robert Schuman. Opening night is next Thursday, October 18, with performances Friday and Saturday, Friday and Saturday, all at 8:30 p.m. Information may be obtained at 452-8181.

In the four member "Adaptation" cast will be Eric Zwerger who was in last spring's Intime production of

"Ilay Fever;" Kim Myers, who made her debut as a lion in fourth grade and has since progressed to Pinter's "The Lover;" James Horton, a Princeton University freshman who spent two summers with the Dartmouth Repertory Company in both Shakespeare and Feydeau and Brian Kremen, a Triangle Club member who has played in such diverse presentations as "Antiochus and the Lion" and "The Fan" last week.

"Next" has only two characters. Elizabeth Simpson will play Sergeant Thetch and Phil Baskin will be Marion Simpson was Emily in "Our Town" and the Madwoman in "Chailot" Baskin was a Triangle member until his graduation in 1973.

ENTRANCES

For Theatre Intime. A pair of one act plays, "Balls," by Paul Foster and "The Successful Life of 3," by Maria Irene Fornes, will be offered on two November weekends by Theatre Intime in Murray Theatre.

S. Chris Talbott, a Princeton senior and Intime regular for three years, will direct. He has played on Intime's stage in "As You Like It," "The Postage" and various other presentations. He made his directorial debut last year with Intime's freshman week production, "The Hundred and First."

The two short plays will be given November 8, 9 and 10 and November 15, 16 and 17.

FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Opera Will Be Benefit. Princeton and Cornell scholarship funds will benefit from the Princeton Opera Association's production of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" to be given in McCarter Wednesday, October 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Alumni are asked to call 921-2148 before Monday to place orders. The number of tickets will be limited. Tickets may be picked up at the McCarter box office any time before October 19.

Scholarship fund tickets are $5. Of that amount, 50 cents will go toward the fund. Since the Princeton Opera Association will contribute 50 cents from each $1.50 orchestra seat, every alumni ticket purchase will mean $1 in a scholarship fund.

"The Marriage of Figaro" is being directed by Edward Earle, and by Igor Chichagov, who is music director for the Princeton Opera Association. The production was first mounted this summer at Washington Crossing State Park's Open Air Theatre.

HANSBERRY TO OPEN

With Play. The Hansberry Arts Workshop, theatre arm of the Princeton Youth Center, will open its fourth season this weekend with a production of Richard Wesley's "The Black Terror."

The play will open this Friday at 8:30 in the Center, and will be seen again this Saturday, and next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 19, 20 and 21. All performances will be at 8:30 except for the Sunday one, which will have a 7:30 curtain time.

CRONYN AND TANDY

Two, by Beckett. "Krapp's Last Tape" and "Not I," by Samuel Beckett, will be presented by Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy next Thursday and Friday, October 18 and 19, at 8:30 in McCarter.

Married for over 30 years, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy have become almost a theatrical legend, both for individual performances and for their appearances together. Mr. Cronyn made his Broadway debut in 1943. Miss Tandy in 1930. They have played together in "The Fourposter," "A Delicate Balance" and "The Physicists," among others. Theatre in 1963, and that year, Miss Tandy played Gertrude in "Hamlet." Mrs. Loman in "Death of a Salesman," and Olga in "The Three Sisters." At McCarter, Mr. Cronyn will play "Krapp's Last Tape," and Miss Tandy, "Not I."

FROM UTAH

Dancers Coming. The Utah Repertory Dance Theatre will make its Princeton debut Sunday, October 21, at 3 p.m. in McCarter Theatre's dance series.

The program will include "Opus Jazz Loves Bach," set to Bach's music; "The Brood," by a former soloist with Martha Graham; "Tricycle," a work for three male dancers by a current member of the Utah company, and "Snack Pack" by another company dancer.

Established in 1966, the Utah company is a professional dance company in permanent residence at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City. The company now has 18 dancers who perform a permanent repertory of 42 works including contemporary dance classics and new compositions by guest choreographers and company members.

DO YOU SING? DANCE?

Openings Available. Singers and dancers, male and female, are still needed for the production of "Once Upon a Mattress," now in rehearsal under the banner of the Princeton University Gilbert and Sullivan Society.

Next production: "Patience," in the spring. Anybody who wants to try out for "Mattress" is invited to call 452-0408 or 924-7006 for additional information. Tech. help is needed, too.

"THE YEARLING"

For Young and Old. It's Movies-for-Kids, but there's nothing to prevent non-kids from seeing once again "The Yearling," 1947's adaptation of Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings' well-loved story. It will be shown this Saturday at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at McCarter. Tickets will be on sale starting at 10 a.m. in the box-office.

Gregory Peck, Jane Wyman and Claude Jarman Jr., play the leading roles in "The Yearling." Series subscription to the other films in the series — there are eight — are still available.

"LAST PICTURE SHOW"

In Two Screenings. "The Last Picture Show," one of the acclaimed films of 1971, will be shown twice at McCarter Monday at 7 and 9:15 p.m.

When it was released, Newsweek called it "the best American movie of the year and the most impressive work by a young director since 'Citizen Kane.' It was the first film that brought Peter Bogdanovich to the fore as a young director.

In its McCarter showing, "Last Picture Show" will include a scene between Timothy Bottoms and Eileen Brennan which was not included in the original release. Besides these two actors, "Picture Show" features Jeff Bridges, Ellen Burstyn, Ben Johnson, Cloris Leachman and Cybill Shepherd. Johnson and Leachman received Academy Awards as Best Supporting Actor and Actress for their portrayals.

TRUFFAUT

"Two English Girls." Two showings — 7 and 9 p.m. of Francois Truffaut's film, "Two English Girls" will be presented at McCarter next Wednesday, October 17 in the Movies at McCarter series.

The film, first shown at last year's New York Film Festival, concerns two proper English sisters who are both in love with the same proper Frenchman. The setting is Paris, pre-World War I.

CHAPLIN

Eight Evenings. Eight feature Charlie Chaplin films will be shown at McCarter in a Sunday night series starting October 21 with "The Kid."

All will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sundays in new prints with original music by Mr. Chaplin. Series subscriptions are available, but single admissions will be sold at the door.

"The Kid" dates from 1921 and was Chaplin's first feature. Jackie Coogan is in the title role. With "The Kid," McCarter will show a short called "The Idle Class."

On November 4, the feature will be "City Lights" from 1931. Although sound was already four years old at the time, Chaplin made this film as a silent.

Subsequent titles are "Modern Times," (1936), Chaplin's classic satire on the assembly line; "The Circus," (1928) one of the artist's funniest films; "The Great Dictator," Chaplin's first dialogue film; "Monsieur Verdoux," (1947); "Limelight," (1952) which introduced Claire Bloom and "A King in New York," made abroad in 1957 while Chaplin was a virtual exile.

BRUNSWICK

The Last Tango: One of the first x-rated films with a big name star, Marlon Brando, "Tango," skillfully directed by Bernardo Bertolucci, was overpraised and overballyhoed at its release. It is not a movie that people will talk about as long as films are made, nor

A MURDERER IS AMONG THEM: One of these Hollywood jet set members was at the wheel of a car in a hit-and-run death in "The Last of Sheila," the murder mystery now at the Playhouse and Montgomery Theatres.

American expatriate who is brooding over the death of his wife, must, nothing is held back. Although there is very little actual nudity, the sexual encounters are graphic in their intensity. Brando's language is some of the foulest ever heard on the screen.

While one may question the value of devoting 125 minutes to an intimate experience which is pure physical sex on Brando's part (he refuses even to tell the girl his name), then develops into love. One can appreciate the acting. It is bold and effective. Brando dominates the film; without his presence, Tango would not be another ramshackle flick.

PLAYHOUSE, MONTGOMERY

The Last of Sheila. A clever, slick murder mystery among the Hollywood jet set that is finally too glittery and empty for its own good but is enjoyable none-the-less.

If one finds he can't keep up with the involved plot, then one can enjoy the clever lines delivered by cast including Richard Benjamin, Dyan Cannon, James Coburn, Joan Hickok, James Mason and Raquel Welch. How's that for variety? What's more, script writers Anthony Perkins and Stephen Sondheim have as a sort of in-joke — based most of the parts on real life Hollywood personalities, figuring most of us are all a bunch of gossips at heart.

James Coburn invites a number of "friends" for a week's stay aboard his yacht on the Riviera to play some games about who's doing what to whom. Guess how long it stays a game?

Both the yacht and the stay are in honor of Coburn's dead wife, Sheila, who was the victim of a hit-and-run driver a year earlier. Coburn then tells his guests, covertly, that he knows who was behind the wheel that night.

That's all the plot that any good Agatha Christie fan need know to realize it is only a matter of time before the games give way to horror. It's all very catching and entertaining, but in the end one is left with the feeling that this film hates everybody in it and everything it has to say. (PG)

4 CONCERTS PLANNED

On Music of Middle Ages. The Friends of Music at Princeton will present the first in a series of four concerts of music of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance for singers and instrumentalists by Musica Alta on Friday, October 19, at 8:30 at Woolworth Center. The concert is free and open to the public.

The program, under the direction of Robert Moreen, will be devoted to works of Heinrich Isaac (1450-1517), including "Missa de Beata Virgine" for six voices. Those performing will be Ann Sease-Monoyios, soprano; Mimmi Fulmer, mezzo-soprano; David Hockema, tenor; Norman Rubin and Ric Merritt, baritone; Michael Spence, bass; and on the Krumphorns: Judy Linsenberg, Jessie Ann Owens, Donald Greenfield and Mark Zuckerman.

Composed of undergraduate and graduate students and one faculty member, Musica Alta was originated last year by Robert Moreen, second-year graduate student in music. The group gave several successful concerts last year and most of the original performers have returned this season.

CONCERT THIS FRIDAY

Sponsored by Folk Society. The Putnam String County Band will appear in concert this Friday, at 8:15 p.m., at the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. The concert is sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society.

Music at Public Library

There will be after-hours music at the Princeton Public Library on Wednesday, October 17, beginning at 9 p.m., the usual closing time.

Marcie Frieberg and Barbara Steinberg will sing contemporary folk songs. They are familiar to Princetonians through their performances at the Arts Festivals. Mrs. Steinberg sang one of her own compositions for the television program, "The Energy Crisis."

The TNTs, a group of high school students, will play classical jazz, rock and soul. This group features Fred Davis, Vernon Gregory and Rickie Hairston on bass guitar and guitar, and Michael Smith on the drums. The TNTs played at the Youth Center's Jazz Festival last summer.

County, New York, the Putnam String County Band brings together an amazing number of sounds from very diverse backgrounds and other musical groups.

John Cohen is still a member of the New Lost City Ramblers as well as a solo performer, lecturer, folklorist, and film maker. He plays guitar and banjo.

Jay and Lyn Ungar were formerly a part of Cat Mother and the All-Night Newsboys. Jay plays fiddle and mandolin, Lyn plays guitar. In addition to the traditional and old time music the group performs, the Ungars write their own songs, which they have termed "Country and Eastern."

Abby Newton was formerly of the Madison (Wisconsin) Symphony Orchestra. She plays cello, violin, fiddle, jugs, harp, and limberjack.

Admission for the concert is $2 general admission, $1.50 for students. Society members get a discount and memberships will be available at the door.

There are no advance ticket sales. For further information, contact Mrs. Caroline Mosley, 113 Linwood Circle, Princeton (609) 921-3588.

ROCKY HILL READY

For Bid 'n' Buy. More than 900 residents of the small, historic village of Rocky Hill will hoist their flags and turn out en masse for Rocky Hill's eighth annual Bid 'n' Buy fair Saturday. The baseball field on Washington Street will be the center for booths and activities, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The fete benefits the Rocky Hill Community Group, which maintains a Center in a pre-Revolutionary house on Washington Street where a branch of the Somerset County Public Library functions with a volunteer staff. The group also funds the historic society, classes, and many recreation programs throughout the year.

The all-day auction and the numerous booths will be under three big tents. Activities will proceed regardless of weather.

An aura of harvest time will prevail: the field will be festooned with pumpkins, bales of hay and cornstalks. There will be booths of handicrafts, food, plants, books, white elephants, and Rocky Hill aprons.

Dried flower arrangements will again be available. A special addition to the sewing fashions this year will be an assortment of colorful kaftans.

Hot Dogs and Popcorn. Joanna Fiori will be selling her Montana Pots again this year. Florence Taylor, who is well known for her portrait work, will spend the day doing pastel portrait sketches.

The oldest band in New Jersey, the Blawenburg Band, will perform.

The refreshment booth will provide Italian meatball sandwiches, hot dogs, sandwiches, pickled eggs, soda, and coffee throughout the day.

The Rocky Hill First Aid and Rescue Squad will demonstrate their apparatus and techniques, and the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Company will provide cotton candy, popcorn, and a hayride.

Pony Rides. The youth of Rocky Hill will display their crafts, collections, and hobbies, and sell their work, if they so choose. In addition, children will enjoy free relay races with prizes, games of skill, penny candy, pony rides, and a wide selection of treasures at the White Elephant Table for tots.

For adults, raffle tickets will insure a chance for a mink stole from Flemington Furs.

Under the big tent, auctioneers Bill Geoghan and Bill Lamb, will take bids on everything from lawn furniture to Andrew Wyeth prints to a Vespa 90 motor scooter.

The Silent Auction, which tools people's talent, time, services, and equipment, and offers it to the highest bidder. It's ready this year with over 100 items. These will be described in detail on individual cards. All bidding will stop at 4 p.m.

Sailing, Canoeing. Among the services are an airplane ride for two, a room wallpapered, a tour of twin Victorian homes with tea or cocktails, a piano tuning, use of a canoe, use of a heated pool, your home painted on a porcelain plate, a typewriter overhaul or sailing for four on Barnegat Bay with a skipper.

You may learn by bidding on lessons in sailing, tennis, piano, reading, paddle tennis, copper enamelling or Spanish. "It all happens on Saturday," say the Bid 'n' Buy planners. "Come and sip cider as the generation gap is bridged by this preserved form of Americana: the town fair."

The Medal is the federal government's highest award for distinguished achievement in science, mathematics and engineering. It was awarded Professor Tukey "for his studies in mathematical and theoretical statistics, particularly his pioneering work on broad analysis and synthesis problems of complex systems, and for his outstanding contributions to the applications of statistics to the physical, social, and engineering sciences."

The only mathematician among eleven recipients, Professor Tukey is also Associate Executive Director, Research-Communication Principles Division, Bell Laboratories, Murray Hill, N.J.

He is known internationally for his studies in mathematical and theoretical statistics and their application to a wide variety of scientific and engineering disciplines. In bestowing an honorary Sc.D. degree upon him in 1969, the University of Chicago called him "one of the most influential and creative statisticians in the world."

A much sought-after teacher, Professor Tukey joined Princeton's Mathematics Department in 1939 after earning his Ph.D. at Princeton and his Master of Science and Bachelor of Science in Chemistry at Brown University. United Fund Apologizes.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In response to the letter from Mrs. N. S. Jones, published in your issue of October 4, the United Fund of the Princeton Area and the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross wish to express their apologies for the unauthorized use of the picture of Mrs. Jones in campaign publicity and the resultant distress caused to her.

We were unaware that she wished to limit the use of the picture to the purposes of the International Sickle Cell Anemia Counseling Service and we regret this error.

We are pleased that the Princeton Red Cross through its blood donor program has made substantial quantities of blood available to Mrs. Jones over a recent period of years. We are sorry that Mrs. Jones' brother, according to her letter, was denied such service in some other community.

It is also fair to point out that the United Fund has no record of ever having received an application for membership from the Service to which Mrs. Jones refers.

All applications are carefully reviewed by the volunteers in our area who make up the Budget Committee before allocations are made. Funds requested for 1974 totaled more than $770,000. Last year $688,924 was raised; the goal this year is $635,000.

Having now met with Mrs. Jones and learned more about her organization, we appreciate the problems being confronted and hope that people will also support the cause she represents, too.

Bicycle Paths Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Having just returned from Amsterdam, where bicycle paths are integral to the traffic plans even outside the city limits, I find Princeton's complete lack of any safe plan for bicyclists appalling.

I find it even more upsetting to discover that certain individuals would deny such security to the large numbers of school-going children, simply because they, as "adults", don't want to ride on the side walk (No, they'd rather get killed in the street).

In Amsterdam people of every possible age ride bicycles, even quite old people (who, incidentally, look quite fit; no doubt due to their great opportunity).

I look forward to the time when Princeton's populace, too, can ride safely and unperturbed in a quieter, cleaner smelling town.

DISCRIMINATION — based on race, creed, color, national origin, sex or marital status in the sale or rental of houses or apartments is illegal. TOWN TOPICS assumes that its advertisers intend to obey the LAW. For information contact Joint Princeton Commission on Civil Rights, 4 Green St., Princeton, N.J. 08540 Tel. 921-7130.

NOTICE

Letters to TOWN TOPICS should be typed, double-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. Letters longer than 500 words may be edited or omitted entirely, at the discretion of the editor. Letters on subjects not specifically related to the Princeton area may also be rejected.

Attend School Meeting.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Board of Education of the Princeton Regional Schools recently addressed a mailing to the Parents, Taxpayers and Citizens of Princeton and encouraged them to attend a meeting on Wednesday, October 17 at 8 p.m. at the High School Auditorium.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss each of several plans which will have considerable impact on the school facilities and the High School program.

Since the lowest cost program will cost at a minimum $924,278 and the highest cost program could cost as much as $9,287,000, tax impact on every local taxpayer will also be considerable.

It therefore seems important that as many parents, taxpayers and citizens as possible go to the meeting so that those who make the final decision will fairly represent the thinking of the electorate in the final decisions.

Alternate Sewer Plan Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have written to Richard J. Sullivan, Commissioner State Department of Environmental Protection.

ROSEMARY O'BRIEN
Chairman,
Township Environmental Commission

This letter is written in support of your proposal for a three-plant alternative to the one-plant system adopted by the Sluys Brook Regional Sewerage Authority in its environmental assessment.

The Princeton Township Environmental Commission feels that further details of your plan should be made known in order for comparisons to be made to the Authorities plan, particularly in relation to cost factors.

I ask, therefore, that you give urgent consideration to the request of Princeton Township Mayor Jay Bleiman for a meeting of representatives of all agencies who are concerned about the prospects for an early resolution of this situation, including environmental groups who have long favored an examination of a possible three-plant system.

Your suggestion appears to have a good deal of merit, and it is my hope that when you forward the Authorities plan to the Environmental Protection Agency it will be accompanied by a more completely developed outline of your own views of a three-plant alternative.

Sincerely,
ROSEMARY O'BRIEN,
Chairman
Township Environmental Commission

SOMERSET MAN CHARGED

With Lewdness and Indecency, Borough police have charged a 26-year-old Somerset man with lewdness and indecency after he allegedly forced a 24-year-old Borough woman to commit an unnatural sex act.

John Lapoint was arrested at 2:07 a.m. Tuesday by P.D. Peter Hanley on Nassau Street at Vandeventer acting on a description supplied by the victim. Arraigned Tuesday, Lapoint is presently being held in custody in Borough Jail in $500 bail.

According to police, the victim, who intends to move to another area, had called the number in a 'niggers' ad in a newspaper. She wanted a cost estimate on moving furniture to her future home.

Lapoint responded to her call, police said, and later allegedly forced her to commit the indecent act.

Open Lewdness: Police also report another act of exposure, the second in the Borough in the past two weeks.

Two students from Westminster College walking on Chestnut Street around 10 Monday night were followed by a man, police said, who exposed himself as he passed them.

He was described as between 5-8 and 5-11, with short dark hair, a round, fleshy face and wearing a greenish trench coat. Det. Thomas Michaud is continuing the initial investigation by P.D. Gerald Patterson.

Chief Michael Carnevale urged anyone in the area that may have any helpful knowledge to call police.

The course consists of two two-hour classes on Friday evenings and one four-hour session Saturday morning. Basic fundamentals of firearms, safe handling practices and laws are taught.

Application forms are available by writing or calling Mrs. Mary Mount, 135 Herbert Avenue, Hamilton Square. Her telephone is 587-6078. Enrollment is limited and if offered on a first come, first served basis.

WEEKLY LUNCHEONS SET

For Senior Citizens. Senior citizens in the greater Princeton area are invited to a series of weekly back-to-school luncheons to be held Thursdays in the cafeteria of Littlebrook School, Magnolia Lane.

The first luncheon will be served on October 11 and every Thursday thereafter when school is in session through May. The time is 1 p.m.; the charge for the completely balanced meal is $1. Door-to-door transportation will be provided for those requesting it.

Reservations must be made no later than 10 a.m. on the Tuesday preceding each luncheon by calling the Red Cross at 924-2101. Requests for transportation will be taken when reservations are made.

The luncheons, which have been served on a regular basis since April 1972, were originated by Mrs. Barbara Hurley, Director of Food Services for the Princeton Regional School System. The project has been continued through the combined efforts of the Princeton Regional Schools, the Princeton Area Council of Community Services, and the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross.

in Borough criminal court, after he pleaded guilty to stealing a tape recorder from a parked car.

Charges of stealing against two others involved in the same incident, Jeffrey Lowe, Princeton Arms, Cranbury, and Margaret Hanson, 23 Witherspoon Street, were dismissed by Judge Philip Charchman. Each had pleaded not guilty.

Benjamin Kahn, 166 Witherspoon Street, was fined $35 for failure to make repairs to an apartment he owns at 114 Witherspoon Street. Borough health officer David T. Blake was the complainant. Mr. Kahn denied the charge.

Douglas Griggs, 216 Witherspoon Street, was fined $15 for assault and placed on probation for one year for possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. Helen Smallwood, no known address, paid $15 for trespassing at a Witherspoon rooming house. Edward F. Grant was the complainant.

A probable cause hearing was held for Jerome McGowen, 216 John Street, charged with eluding a Borough police officer. His papers were sent to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office for further action.

OFF TO WATERCRESS

With Historical Society. A day's journey into the past, encompassing visits to Watercress Farm and Waterloo Village, will be offered Tuesday, October 23, by the Historical Society of Princeton. Reservations must be made by Tuesday.

Waterloo Village, in northern New Jersey, was settled by English farmers in 1740 and is known for its iron ore and position as a depot on the Morris Canal. Restored buildings include the Canal House, Wellington House and the old stage coach inn. Luncheon will be served in the village.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

For W. Windsor High School. The West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional School Board, at its regularly scheduled monthly meeting held last week at the Maurice Hawk School, and heard progress reports on the high school, transportation and teacher contract talks.

Mr. Ronald Watson, high school principal, informed the Board that an open house program for parents of students attending the high school is scheduled for Wednesday evening, October 17, at 7:30 p.m.

A second open house, conducted by the High School Advisory Council for members of the community, is planned for Thursday evening, October 18. Interested citizens should plan to arrive at the facility between the hours of 7:30 and 9 p.m.

In other matters pertaining to the high school, Mr. Walter Golden, Clerk of the Works, presented his monthly construction progress report. He informed the Board that every effort was being made to complete all the work necessary to make the kitchen operational. He anticipated that it would take approximately two weeks to complete the job.

In personnel matters the Board approved the appointments of Miss Ellen Passer and Mrs. Ellen Wightman. Miss Passer will serve as art teacher at the Dutch Neck School and Mrs. Wightman will teach instrumental music in the district's elementary schools. The Board also approved the appointments of a number of supplementary and substitute teachers for the present school year.

Dr. John Hadden, in reporting on transportation for the opening of school, discussed the conditions that exist on the corner of Clarksville and Princeton-Hightstown Road.

IT'S NEW To Us

CLOTHES FOR ALL SIZES
At Joseph Amari's "Junior is a size, not an age," says
Mary Ecroyd of Joseph Ama-ri's. Therefore the store has many sophisticated clothes for the woman with a junior figure, which in general means shorter waists and hemlines, and smaller shoulders.

For the junior size we admired a long skirt in a navy and white houndstooth which comes with a red sweater and white dickey, topped by a navy blazer, $58.

Then there are pants, such as denim ones in a re-cycled look, $16; and thin wale cordury jeans in pink, tan or pale green, $18. And, a very fashionable pantsuit with straight leg pants and a battle-jacket, made with a brown argyle corduroy, $54.

Joseph Amari also has dresses in junior sizes, including some gowns. There is a sleeveless red empire dress with an open circle across the back for a bare look, $46, and an abstract brown and white long sleeved dress that is topped by a sleeveless brown vest and narrow belt, $49.

For Non Juniors . . . However, there is still plenty for the non junior figure, starting with the luscious Anne Fogarty knits. We loved a coral and white three piece knit with the new look that features the pearl side of the fabric, $90.

AT JOSEPH AMARI: Mary Ecroyd, left, and Marjorie Fischer hold a brown crepe gown that is part of the junior line at Joseph Amari, 360 Nassau Street.

and a long sweater dress in an all white with silver threads that has some open stitching near the neckline, $80.

The velveteens are already in the store, and there are some beautiful long skirts by Mr. Dino, most of which have patterns on a black background, $40-50. Mr. Amari also has velveteen pants from France in five colors—grey,
red, green, brown and black.
These slacks also come in gabardines and tweeds, and they are shaped very well with a "fit and flare" cut, $40-$52.

The tent style is making a comeback this season and we admired a grey dress with a gingham circle design that can be belted or not, $42. We also liked a hunter green and white shirtwaist, $52, and a basic black dress by Anne Fogarty which has a pretty leather and gold link belt for its only decoration, $70.

While either Mary Ecroyd or Marjorie Fischer is always in the store to help you, Joseph Amari is there if you wish one of his beautiful custom made fashions. Currently he has made some gowns with grey bias cut skirts and french angora bodices in pink, yellow or blue. Each one is slightly different and as perfect on the inside as on the out, $95-$120.

There are also skirts, sweaters such as a soft comfortable and a nylon turtle-neck in pretty colors, $13.50, and a nice collection of beautiful blouses by such manufacturers as Alice Stuart and Christian Dior.

Another feature of the store is a continual sale rack and section of Indian cotton long skirts, dresses and shirts. Usually the Indian clothes arrive weekly, but currently the imports have been slow as the monsoon season has made it impossible to dry the fabrics in the sun.

Joseph Amari is located at Princeton Plaza, 360 Nassau Street, and is open from 10 until 6 Monday to Saturday, and beginning this week, there will be Thursday and Friday evening hours until 9.

FOR CHANGE OF PACE

Try A Massage The only way to fully appreciate a massage is to have one. It can relax muscles, ease pains, tone the skin, and in general is just very healthful—in addition to being pleasant.

Last January Mrs. Eva
Penttinen bought the Swedish Massage Studio from the Heidens who had started it here in 1934. Mrs. Penttinen learned this scientific massage in Finland at the Kisakallio as part of a program of gymnastics, and she feels that massage and exercise go hand in hand.

She would love to see Princeton start a gymnastics course for older people because the stiffening that comes with age makes exercise increasingly more important.
This is best of course when

In addition to the massages given by Mrs. Penttinen or Mr. Heiden who continues to work daily, there are heat cabinets and massage machines. A 45-minute period costs $10, and the Studio at 130 Nassau St. is open from 9 to 5 Monday to Friday and Saturday mornings.

Mrs. Pettinen's only reservation about the business is that she seldom gets a massage, and so for her next life she has already requested a private masseuse.

GIFT THOUGHTS

From La Vake's. The first stop in looking for that very special gift might well be La Vake's. However, while the cases display one tempting item after another, it is far more than a jewelry store.

For instance, we saw several gifts for men such as a mirror with a decorative print of his alma mater, $39.95, or a square brass clock that has a globe in the center so he can know the time anyplace in the world, $185.

However, if her prefers the time to be on his wrist, La Vake's has the new Pulsar watch that gives the digital time at the push of a button. This small computer watch runs on power cells, never needs cleaning and comes with a three-year guarantee, $275 and up.

A new line of pewter from Italy has reproduction pieces with a nice antique look. We admired a large tankard with simple lines and a pouring spout so it can be used as a pitcher, $50, and a soup tureen with two handles and matching plate that would be lovely in the center of a table when not being used, $145.

La Lique Crystal. Because of the devaluation, crystal is now beginning to compete with silver in price, but it remains as beautiful as ever. By La Lique we admired a powder puff box with sculptured swans around the outside, $36, and a very unusual amber turtle, $95.

Twisted heavy candlesticks about five inches high by Baccarat are $55 the pair, and

Firemen's Flea Market

The Mercer Engine Co. No. 3 will hold its first Flea Market-Garage Sale-Bake Sale Saturday and Sunday from 10 to 4 at its Chambers Street building. Hundreds of new and antique items, including household articles, lawn equipment, clothes, books, toys and furniture will be offered.

In addition, an assortment of baked goods has been prepared by members' wives. Those having items to donate should call Johnson Electric 924-0606, Grover Taxi Service 924-4950 or Arthur Van Horn, 924-4950.

delicate cut crystal holders on long stems by Kosta come in two sizes, $19.50 and $28. Then by Val St. Lambert there are salad plates with a sculptured fruit design, $7.50, and small dishes for candy, fruit or dessert, $3.50.

Aside from the many china place settings, we saw some individual pieces such as unusual candlesticks by Herend. Each stick twists at the top into two holders, $81 the pair. We also liked the Belleek china from Ireland with the shamrock design in a tea set and the oven to table cookware by Royal Worcester which now comes in two new flowered patterns.

La Vake's has the newest Cybis porcelain figurine of Goldilocks with a panda bear, and a new line of figures made in Italy by a new process of firing clay. Each figure is part of a limited edition, and many of them are caricatures, such as the graduate, golfer or tennis player.

Everyone has his favorite choices and we were no exception. We loved the small child smelling a flower while sitting on a stone, by Malcolm Moran, $50; the tiny vermeil basket of strawberries by Gorham, $140; a classic wine carafe for a quiet dinner for two, $11; and a music box which plays Bach and Handel in the most beautiful tones, $200.

La Vake's is located at 54 Nassau Street and is open 9:30 to 5:30 Monday to Friday and Saturday from 9:30 to 5.

ART

FOLK ART BAZAAR SET

At State Museum In Trenton. A basket from Ethiopia that took a village girl eight months to make; tribal jewelry from the West Coast of Africa and Afganistan, primitive sculpture from New Guinea, prayer rugs from Turkey and folk toys from many countries are among the hundreds of items that will be presented in a combined exhibition sale at the New Jersey State Museum, Trenton, from October 13 to 28.

The world's craftsmen have fashioned the jewelry, baskets, toys, ornaments, rugs, weaving, pottery, batik, sculpture, ornaments and decorations in the Museum's Folk Art Bazaar. Prices start at under $1, and there is something for every one of every age — from a $2 silver rattle from India to an antique Korean chest priced at several hundred dollars.

The collection was gathered by Marlon Kelleher of Princeton and Pearl Seligman of Roosevelt from dozens of countries on several continents. They feel that collecting folk art is a wonderful way for people of ordinary means to acquire interesting and significant objects at very little cost. If it hangs on a wall, they declare, it needn't be a painting costing thousands or a million dollar Greek vase.

It can be an Indonesian shadow puppet, a hand-illuminated page from a Persian book, a rug woven in a remote village and colored with natural dyes, glinting Mexican tin, an African mask, a decorative basket, a colorful piece of Indian embroidery.

These things are made by village craftsmen for the use of their people, in their homes and community rituals. They are distinguished by the tradition of centuries of unchanged ways of doing things, although many are not old. As industrialization more and more intrudes on village life, handcrafted folk art is giving way to plastic manufactures. In a few years, many of the things on sale at the Museum's Bazaar will be as hard to find as an early American weather vane, according to Mrs. Kelleher and Mrs. Seligman.

The Bazaar includes things to play with, things to wear, things to decorate a house, Christmas tree ornaments and gifts.

The Folk Art Bazaar is in the Museum's Main Building (Second Floor, Cultural Hall) and the area is open from 10 to 4, Monday through Saturday and Sunday from 2 to 5, October 13 to October 28. The Bazaar is sponsored by the Friends of the New Jersey State Museum. Mrs. Burton Peskin of Princeton is head of the Bazaar committee.

PRINTMAKING DISPLAYED

At Trenton JCC. The works of two Princeton printmakers, Margaret Kenard Johnson and Judith K. Brodsky, are on display at the Jewish Community Center of Trenton, 999 Lower Ferry Road, through October 23.

Both specialize in intaglio printmaking. Mrs. Johnson's prints reveal subtle differences in texture, achieved by building up the plate with a variety of collage materials and by other devices.

Mrs. Brodsky's portfolio consists of 10 poems by I. J. Kapstein covering the subjects of life from birth to death and emotions from joy to sorrow. Each poem is accompanied by a print.

The galleries of the Jewish Community Center are open to the public every day except Saturdays and Jewish holidays.

EXHIBITIONS PLANNED

At Loft Gallery, Watercolor and drawings of Alex W. Lee and paintings by Phyllis Lifschutz will be presented in an exhibit that opens Sunday at the Loft Art Gallery, 306 Alexander Street. It can be seen Tuesday through Saturday from 9 to 5.

A resident of Trenton, Mr. Lee teaches watercolor at the Studio on the Canal in Princeton. He has had solo exhibitions in New York and his work is included in many public collections.

Phyllis Lifschutz, a resident of New Brunswick, has exhibited in galleries throughout New Jersey and in New York. In addition to painting, usually in acrylics, she has also lectured on art history for the Brandeis Home Art Study Group.

AUDITIONS ANNOUNCED

For Britten Opera. The Princeton University Opera Theatre has announced auditions for Benjamin Britten's opera, "The Rape of Lucretia," to be performed in early March. First produced in 1946, the tragedy is a contemporary interpretation of the legendary story, set in ancient Rome, of the rape of Lucretia.

The performers consist of eight principals, four male and four female, and a 12-piece orchestra, to be made up of members of the Princeton University Orchestra. The conductor, Mordecai Sheinkman, has conducted a production of "The Threepenny Opera" on Broadway.

This will be the fourth annual production of the Princeton University Opera Theatre, and its first tragic drama. All voice parts are encouraged to audition, and should come with some piece of prepared vocal music. Call 452-4241 for audition sign-ups and information, or come to the main office, Woolworth Center of Musical Studies, on the Princeton campus.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 15c.

To Play at Rider. Drummer Buddy Rich and his 16-man orchestra, the second program in Rider College's year-long "Concert Nine" series, will be played at 7:30, Friday, October 19, in Alumni Gymnasium.

An imaginative, inventive jazz orchestrator, Rich is considered by many one of the greatest of drummers. Through a career that extends back to the days of vaudeville, he has played for such big band leaders as Artie Shaw, Joe Marsala, Tommy Dorsey and Harry James. In 1954, he formed his own jazz band and recorded both instrumental and vocal albums for Verve, MGM.

MUSIC DIRECTOR NAMED

For University Chapel, Walter Nollner, Professor of Music and for the past 15 years conductor of the Princeton University Glee Club, is the newly-named Director of Music in the Princeton University Chapel. Prof. Nollner, 50, succeeds Carl Weinrich, who retired in June after 30 years on the Princeton faculty as organist, choir master, and Director of Music at the Chapel.

While continuing as conductor of the Glee Club, which marks its 100th anniversary in 1974, Prof. Nollner assumes responsibility for the 60-voice Chapel Choir and a newly-formed University organist staff. The choir, composed of both undergraduate and graduate students, provides the choral music for University chapel services as well as offering two major concerts during the school year.

"He is a man of imagination and drive," notes the Rev. Dr. Ernest Gordon, Dean of the University Chapel, "a dedicated musician who has encouraged a great deal of student participation in musical activities on this campus. We should see a wide range of expression in the chapel's music."

Prof. Nollner studied at the Trinity College of Music, London, where he was made a Fellow in 1945. He earned his A.B. with highest honors in 1946 from the University of California (Berkeley) and received his M.A. from Berkeley in 1949. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

After directing the men's and women's Glee Clubs at Berkeley for three years and lecturing there in music for one, Prof. Nollner joined the faculty at Williams College in 1950, teaching music there for eight years and directing its Glee Club.

Named to the Princeton faculty in 1958 as an assistant professor, he was made an associate professor in 1964 and a professor in 1972. Early in his career here he was named a Bicentennial Preceptor.

RECYCLING TO START

In West Windsor. West Windsor will initiate a town-ship-sponsored recycling program on Saturday. The curbside pickup of paper and glass, which will be handled by the Rescue Mission of Trenton, will take place on the first Saturday of each month.

Newspapers and magazines must be tied in bundles, glass must be separated by color, and metal rings removed and placed in disposable containers, such as paper bags.

If a resident forgets to put out his recyclables or should be missed, he may take the paper and glass to the sheds behind the township garage on Wallace Road just off the Princeton-Hightstown Road.

BOOK SALE PLANNED

By Pennington Library. Paperback books, hardcover books and especially children's books are needed for the Pennington Library's used book sale, Saturday, October 20, from 10 to 3 in front of the library at 24 North Main Street.

Books may be brought to the library during its circulation hours: 3-5 p.m. Monday through Saturday; 7-9 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; and 10-noon Monday and Saturday.

FUTURE TRAIN TRAVEL

Explained by University Engineer. What will it feel like to travel at 300 miles-per-hour in a magnetically levitated train some 6 inches above the ground? "It will feel like flying," says a Princeton University researcher, "but there will be no airport. People will be able to travel from midtown New York to midtown Washington in less than an hour."

Francis C. Moon, 34, Research Engineer in Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences, advocates magnetically levitated mass transportation systems for densely populated corridors as successors to the current Metroliners and Turbo-trains which are capable of 150-mile-per-hour speeds.

"What is needed," says Moon, an expert in magnetic levitation, "is entirely new ground transportation technology such as air cushion or magnetic suspension, which will sweep away the prejudices and vested interests of an old and ailing technology and bring in imaginative ideas and creative engineers, managers and service workers, in much the same way as did aeronautical technology in an earlier era."

"From an environmental standpoint, magnetic levitation," says Moon, "has advantages over the air cushion vehicle." He points to the effect of the air currents on the surrounding environment and the energy requirement of the air-cushion system. Additionally, he says, "the magnetically levitated train would be the ideal candidate for the vacuum tube which would keep the energy requirement to a minimum."

Though it will feel like flying, the magnetically suspended systems will be most effective between cities no more than 400 miles apart. "The airplane," says the Princeton researcher, "will remain the vehicle of choice for longer distances where the airport to city trip does not consume so large a portion of the total travelling time."

Routes: The Boston - New York - Washington corridor; Cleveland to Chicago; Chicago to Detroit; St. Louis to Kansas City; the San Diego - Los Angeles - San Francisco corridor; Portland to Seattle; Dallas to Houston; the Pittsburgh - Columbus - Indianapolis corridor; and Montreal to Toronto are some of the routes which Moon singles out for magnetically levitated mass transportation.

The Princeton researcher cites an article published by R. H. Goddard, the Princeton physicist and rocket expert, in the magazine, Scientific American of 1909. Goddard wrote: "The cars might be held in suspension by the repulsion of opposing magnets on the cars. When thus isolated, they could be propelled only by the magic power of magnetism." Francis C. Moon thinks that Goddard's magic should become a commonplace.

Something to Believe In!

Would you believe:

- In Central New Jersey alone, there are millions of Savings dollars on deposit in accounts that pay only 4% or 4½%?
- Some banks advertise the highest rate but pay you interest only on the low monthly balance?
- Some banks still compound interest only four times a year?

YOU'D BETTER BELIEVE IT, IT'S THE TRUTH!

At New Jersey National Bank of Princeton:

- You earn the highest interest the government allows us to offer (and we were the first to increase our rates when Federal regulations changed).
- Your interest is compounded every single day! Interest earned today earns more interest tomorrow.
- Interest is paid from the day you deposit to the day you withdraw—as long as you leave just $5.00 on deposit till the end of the quarter.

PLUS:

- You can have up to 13 bonus interest days.
- Automatic transfers from checking to savings.
- Complete range of banking services.

Oddly enough, every team that won the Super Bowl the last five years (up to Miami winning it after last season) FAILED to go to the Super Bowl the next year. It'll be interesting to see if this "Super Bowl Jinx" prevents Miami from going to the Super Bowl this season. Green Bay won the Super Bowl after the 1967 season, the New York Jets won it after the '68 season, Kansas City won it after the '69 season, Baltimore won it after the '70 season and Dallas won it after the '71 season and strangely enough, none of those teams even got to the Super Bowl the next season.

Here's an amazing sports question. Who hit a home run on his first at bat in the big leagues—and then never hit another home run for 20 years even though he played in each of those 20 years? Answer is pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm who hit a homer on his very first at bat in the majors in 1952, and then played in the majors for 20 more years and never hit another home run!

One of the most unbelievable football records of all-time is that the University of Michigan, between 1901 and 1905 scored 2821 points while their opponents during that time got only 42 points!

Tigers, 0-2, Face More Problems at Cornell

Having contributed largely to its own defeat at the hands of two of its more ordinary opponents this season, Princeton's error prone football team heads for Ithaca to face one of the favorites for the 1973 Ivy League championship. It has been four years since the Tigers have beaten Cornell, and the chances that they will reverse this trend Saturday are extremely slim.

What has to give backers of the Orange and Black cause for concern is that the rebuilding Princetonians retrogressed during the second week of the campaign, — playing a poorer brand of football against Columbia than they did in the opener with Rutgers. To the ever-present tendency to fumble and throw interceptions they added a series of costly penalties which played a vital part in their 14-13 upset at the hands of the New Yorkers. In their two defeats thus far, the Tigers have been guilty of seven lost fumbles and have had eight passes intercepted. Both Columbia touchdowns were made possible by such turnovers.

Despite its unanticipated 7-7 deadlock with Lehigh last week, Cornell has the ability to dominate Princeton even without the various types of contributions the Tigers have been making to their opponents' welfare. The Ithacans have a solid defensive unit, one which they hope will blend with a developing offense well enough to pace them to their first Ivy title.

A pair of highly capable running backs and a quarterback who can blend good running with a 50% passing average spearhead the Ithacans' attack. As sophomore last season, Dan Malone ran for 114 yards a game to rank 11th in the nation. He is backed this

He executes the option well, and in the Red's 22-15 triumph that ended the season in Palmer Stadium last fall, he scored twice and passed for the third TD. The need to rebuild the offensive line has slowed the Cornell attack to some degree, but it figures to show well against a Princeton defense that has allowed 53 points in two games.

The Ithacans' defense is built around Captain Bob Lally, a 220-lb. linebacker whom the Cornell publicist, Ben Mintz, says is the best defensive player to represent the Big Red in the past 30 years. Lally was All-East as a junior and has been All-Ivy for two seasons. He is backed by six other regulars from last fall, a good enough cast to make life tough for Princeton's uncertain offense.

TROUBLE AT COLUMBIA
Steady Stream of Mistakes. Symbolic of the seemingly endless stream of errors charged to Princeton at Baker Field Saturday was a penalty assessed against the Tigers that no veteran press box observer had ever seen called before. Midway through the second period, Fred Dalzell completed a pass for a 14-yard gain to Bill Skinner which was nullified because a Princeton player attempting to block a Columbia defender somehow managed to grab his face mask.

There were more. Twice, promising drives were halted because a lineman was off-side on a third and one situation, and the offense could not break out of the resulting third and six.

Once Upon a Time, Columbia Always Lost

When Charlie Caldwell was building a winning streak that, over four seasons, was to reach 24 games, a fascinated Princeton junior who had never seen the Tigers lose, said to him, "Coach, are you ever going to get beaten?"

"Oh, sure," was Charlie's amused reply. "The pendulum always swings the other way."

Just how far it has swung in the past three years was demonstrated by Saturday's loss to Columbia. When Princeton defeated the Lions in 1970, none of the players in the game had been born on the day that the New Yorkers last won in the series — November 17, 1945.

Now, the Class of 1974 at Princeton will graduate next spring without having known victory over the Light Blue. Last week's one-point loss was preceded by the scoreless tie in 1972 and a 22-20 setback two years ago.

of Princeton mistakes. The first was set in motion by a fumble, the second by an interception, and each was scored on a pass because the Tiger secondary left the receiver uncovered in the end zone.

The quarterbacks were again debited with four interceptions, the backs fumbled three more times for reasons ranging from inability to hold the ball when hit to mishandled handoffs. In two games, the Tigers have committed 15 turnovers, the offense that was presumed to have good potential thus putting more pressure on the inexperienced defense than it can withstand.

Added to all this were the penalties, which totalled 80 yards and were, on several occasions, extremely costly. One of them was an inexcusable call — an end racing in to block a punt was in turn blocked into the kicker, and the Tigers lost 15 yards on that. But that's the kind of bad luck that often dogs a team when it's down, and it may be the Tigers' fate on several more Saturdays to come.

First Drive Successful. To their credit, the Princetonians scored the first time they got their hands on the ball, going 69 yards in ten plays, or, actually 77 yards because of the first clipping penalty for which they were called. Jud Wagenseller ran the final 15 yards in a good burst through the middle and Scott Morrison booted the point at 7:36 of round one.

20 WAYS TO KINDNESS

There are many ways in this world to be kind to others.

But one of the best and surest ways to spread your kindness is to contribute to an organization that spreads your kindness twenty ways — your United Fund-Red Cross campaign.

Once a year you are asked to give where you work, or at home if you favor homework. Giving a fair share of what the Lord has given to you is a fair way to go. Help twenty agencies and the Red Cross with your one contribution this October.

If you wait for someone else to do it — it may not get done. If you wait for someone to solicit your contribution, it may come too late. Why not send the coupon below right now and pledge just a little more of your own human kindness.

Even if you give where you work it will help the cause of human needs which your United Fund-Red Cross campaign can support. One gift goes through twenty agencies — a thousand ways.

Please give!

PHS Demolishes St. Anthony's, 52-0; Faces Hillsborough Next

It could have just as easily been 104 to 0. Instead it was only half as bad, but the 52-0 shellacking the Princeton High School football team administered to winless St. Anthony Friday is sufficient indication of the monumental mismatch the contest was.

The Iron Mikes with a new coach, new formation and few experienced players were no match for the Little Tigers. If anything, it would have been better if the Blue and White had won by a far narrower margin. Coach Dick Wood is only too aware of what effect such an easy win could have on his squad.

After agreeing that the St. Anthony cakewalk could hurt the attitude of the team, Wood commented, "I'll figure out something if they start getting cocky. I'll work them to death."

In three games, PHS has displayed a well balanced running and passing attack that has put 103 points on the board. The defense, just as glittering, has yielded only one touchdown. The 3-0 start is the school's best in years.

Hillsborough Next. None of that will mean anything, though, when PHS plays host to a strong Hillsborough team Saturday morning at 10:30. Both Wood and his assistant, Jim Brachell, predicted a "tough game" with the Raiders.

Lake Princeton, Hillsborough has won its first two games in impressive fashion. Last fall, the Raiders used a wish bone formation to whipsaw the Little Tigers for four first-half touchdowns and managed to prevail in a 34-28 win.

This year, Hillsborough is operating mainly out of an I formation. If PHS has not returned to earth by the opening kickoff, Hillsborough may test PHS, which has not known so far this year what it means to have to come from behind.

One can't blame the Blue and White, however, for being sky high after crushing St. Anthony.

Passing the sharpest he has all season, Mooney was able to connect with Rich Warfield, Bob Zinsmeister and Mike Diamond almost at will. Warfield, Zinsmeister and Mooney each scored twice in the contest. Before the first period ended, PHS led 21-0.

St. Anthony, in turn, was helpless against the PHS defense. It failed in cross field until less than two minutes were left in the game. It did not gain a first down or complete a single pass in the half. The Iron Mikes would run three plays and punt, usually on a fourth and 20 situation.

The fact that the starting fullback, Jack Bayer, and half back Ron Campbell were not in the offensive backfield (Bayer did play his usual out standing game as a defensive end) did not make any difference at all. George Reynolds replaced Bayer and Kevin Scudder, a 5-3, 150-pound wrecking ball, excelled as a running back.

Scudder accounted for the team's final touchdown when he scampered down the side lines 52 yards with 27 seconds left to play. Hit a couple of times en route, Scudder, who runs low to the ground, managed to shed his tacklers and keep his balance. He also intercepted a tipped pass on the final play of the game.

PHS Scoring List. There is little more one can do than list the scoring for PHS. Mooney to Warfield, 12 yard pass; Mooney on a one yard keeper and Mooney to Zinsmeister, 36 yard pass, all in the first quarter. Mooney was six for nine during the three scores.

Mooney, back to pass, ran the ball in from nine yards out, for Princeton's only score in the second period. PHS opened the second half with two quick scores, coming within a minute and four seconds of each other.

Zinsmeister went off back from the four with 8:26 left after a St. Anthony punt, under terrific pressure from the PHS line had carried only to the Iron Mike 10. At the 7:22 mark, following a St. Anthony fumble on its own 8, Mooney hit Warfield with an eight yard aerial.

Before Scudder ended the scoring Steve Tomlinson, 14 for 14 in extra point conversions, kicked a 15-yard field goal. PHS also had one called back when a St. Anthony punt, partially blocked by defensive back Steve Kopp who ran it back to the end zone. A clipping penalty wiped that out.

Wood said after the game that he felt badly about the score. "But you can't tell kids to stop playing. You can't tell your quarterback not to throw because it is so much a part of our game."

Mooney threw a lot. Wood aid, "because they were giving it to us. They made it tough up the middle."

For the sizeable PHS crowd, it was a pleasing win, but not very exciting football. Perhaps those most interested where the handful of Notre Dame players in the stands who got an eyeful. The Irish, who figure to challenge PHS for the County crown, demolished Ewing the following day 41-12. Both teams are 3-0 in PHS line had carried only to league play.

It was on this series that sophomore quarterback Ron Beibel limped off the field with a torn knee cartilage. His future was in doubt at mid-week: a knee operation last spring gives him a history of problems there, and it will in all probability be some time before he returns. In a way, Beibel was tempting fate; he wears number 12 and white shoes and has weak knees, and so does Joe Namath.

Fred Dalzell took over at quarterback, and later directed a 71 yard touchdown drive in the third period, going over on a sneak after Walt Sniekenberger had erased more than half the distance on what amounts to a halfback draw play. But this time, the p.a.t. attempt was solidly blocked, and storm signals could be seen rising over the Tigers' 13-7 lead.

Having scored first from the Princeton 29 shortly after the second half began, Columbia felt it could pierce the Tiger pass defense again if the opportunity arose. It did, with about five minutes left in the game when Jim Flynn threw directly into the hands of a Columbia defender on the Lion 45. Five of six aeri- als were completed by the Lions.

the last a 21 yard toss that found one Princeton defender covering two receivers deep in the end zone. He protected against the first and the second got the TD unmolested. The kick was good, and the Tigers could not get beyond their own 34 when Flynn passed seven times, completed only one and had another picked off.

Injuries, ranging in seriousness from Brille's cartilage to a dislocated thumb for line backer Rich Zeigler, a slightly separated shoulder for Captain Bill Cronin and other lesser ailments are beginning to plague the squad. Possibly more serious, however, is the question of how long the sky-high morale which marked pre-season practice can last in the absence of victory.

The current situation is about to parallel 1971, when Princeton lost its first three. That year, the orange and black righted matters with a burst that saw triumphs recorded over Colgate, Penn and Brown. The 1973 Tigers may well not be so fortunate, because Colgate, Penn and Brown this season are measurably better than they were two years ago.

PDS NOW 0-2

Trinity Next Opponent. The Princeton Day football team managed to narrow its margin of defeat from 28 points to two Friday, but still lost its second game of the season, 8-6, to Morristown Beard.

This Friday the Panthers will get their third crack at their first win when they meet Trinity School at home at 3:15. Mainly a running team with one good, fast halfback, Trinity is expected to have the same abilities as Morristown.

For the second year in a row, Morristown walked away with a two-point victory, provided by a successful two-point conversion. Last year PDS also lost 8-6, but the scenario was changed a bit this time.

In 1972, Morristown scored first and held on while PDS managed a late score, but could not come up with the two-point conversion. This time PDS held a 6-0 lead going into the last four minutes of the game, only to see Morristown score and then win the game with its conversion.

Although neither team scored in the first half, the Blue and White definitely held the upper hand on offense. Two second period drives by the Panthers were stopped short of the end zone, the first by a penalty and the second when time ran out.

Tim Hamid got the ball all the way down to the two yard line on a fine 20 yard run, but a clipping penalty nullified that advance. Later the Panthers started from their four-yard line and marched all the way down to Morristown's 14, but time did not permit further advance and a field goal attempt failed.

After the intermission, PDS got going on a 60 yard drive that produced its first touchdown of the season, led by the running of Hamid and Mark Blaxill. Hamid scored on a two-yard plunge.

On the try for the two points, Hamid carried wide around end but was stopped just short of the end zone on a disputed call by the officials.

The fourth quarter began with PDS still holding on to its lead, and Morristown unable to get moving. With four minutes left PDS appeared to have matters well in hand, as two consecutive first downs enabled it to retain possession of the ball. However, a costly fumble, gave Morristown one more chance from the PDS 45 and it did not waste the opportunity.

A screen pass gained 20 yards, and a couple of plays later, a Morristown back caught a short pass in the flat, eluded two PDS tacklers, and Morristown's conversion attempt raced into the end zone. Morristown was a piece of cake as the tight end caught a pass all alone in the end zone.

The statistics bear out the Panther's overwhelming superiority on offense. In the first half, they outrushed Morristown 204 to 33, and game totals were 351 to 143. Passing was about even for both sides. Unfortunately the name of the game is putting points on the board.

40TH SEASON TO START

For Skating Club. The Princeton Skating Club will begin its 40th season with a reception on Sunday from 6 to 7 at Bedens Brook Club.

Skating will begin the following day at Baker Rink and in late November at the Princeton Day School's rink. The highlight of this season, President Aubrey Huston announced, will be a carnival in late March to benefit the Princeton Nursery School.

The season also includes recreational, hockey, figure and dance skating for the 130 members. Last year, members passed a total of 230 of the United States Figure Skating Association's basic tests plus at least 74 of the standard figure and dance tests. MIDGET FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS: Sandy Reynolds, former President of the Princeton Midget Football League participates in the toss of the coin with League President Dick Thompson to open the 1973 Midget Football League Sunday. With them are Keith Phox, No. 32; Donald Gips No. 84, Princeton Fuel Oil co-captains, Charles Phox, No. 29 and Cory Easter, No. 36, University Store co-captains, and referees John Zorzi, right, and John Taylor.

PLAY BEGINS
In Midget Football League, Princeton Fuel Oil and the Rug and Furniture Mart rolled to easy victories Sunday as play began in the senior division of the Princeton Midget Football League.

Dave Miller scored twice and Don Gips, once, on Fuel Oil's 20-7 triumph over the University Store. Keith Phox passed to Chris McDonald, who made a superb catch for the losers' only score.

The Fuel Oil defense was led by Chris Wallace, Dwight Bullock, Bob McAvonia and Darryl Grisham. John Sapoch, Tom Seiler and John Rosenthal played well for the University Store on defense.

In the second game, role with penalties, Ron Ward scored all the points in the Rug Mart's 20-0 win over Nassau-Conover. He ran for the first two, one on a 63-yard punt, and caught a pass from Dave Fitzgerald for the third.

Nassau-Conover threatened a couple of times in the passing from Jay Budd to end Bob Flippin, but could not get into the end zone.

Defensive standouts were Bob Ramer, Don Ward and Bob Campbell for Rug Mart, and Bob Cronin, Rod Taylor and Woody Clark for Nassau-Conover. Billy Perna did some outstanding punting for Nassau-Conover in the fourth quarter, kicking for 40 yards or more three times in a row, with the first two called back for penalties.

Games will continue this Sunday at 1 p.m. at the High School.

HUN STOPPED AGAIN

Blair Here Saturday. The Hun football team is one game away from the panic button.

In three games, its scoring has dropped from two to one to no touchdowns. On Saturday, Pennington School shut out Hun, 24-0. It was Hun's third consecutive loss.

This Saturday at 2, Hun will try to get untracked against visiting Blair Academy, which crushed Hun 43-6 last year. Another defeat and Hun will be halfway through its season without a win. Hun coach Dave Leete commented starkly about the upcoming game: "We either have to play football or hang it up; we're not playing good football."

Hun found itself in a hide early against home team Pennington Saturday as the Red Raiders' Brian Lee took the opening kickoff 80 yards for six points. Four minutes later, following an interception of a Hun pass on the Hun 41, Pennington speedster Jerry Eure galloped 35 yards for his first of two TDs.

In the third period, Eure broke loose for 75 yards on a broken play and Pennington, which has been unscored upon this season, had its third victory locked up.

"The offense just couldn't seem to get going," said a concerned and puzzled Leete. "We just didn't play well at all. I don't know if we'll get it together one of these days or not."

For Hun, time is running out — and the schedule offers no hope. Delbarton, Princeton High, Pingry and Admiral Farragut remain.

TWO MORE VICTORIES
For PHS Cross Country Team. Two lopsided wins, 16-47, over Hamilton and 13-57 over Trenton, enabled the Princeton High School cross country team to remain undefeated in its first five meets.

Coach Larry Ivan's Little Tigers are headed for an October 31 showdown with Ewing, the other County power this season, which is also 5-0.

Pete Nichols, John Woodside, Royce Flippin and Tim Anderson led PHS in its twin victories. The Little Tigers' George Chambers paced the Blue and White jayvee team to easy wins over the same two teams.

BUSINESS In Princeton

INTEREST CHANGED

By Princeton Savings. The Board of Directors of Princeton Savings and Loan Association has announced that regular savings accounts will earn interest from day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

Regular savings accounts pay 5 1/4% a year compounded quarterly, to savers, and this new feature is designed to make the account "even more responsive to our customer's needs," according to William Boozar, Jr., president.

"This added benefit has been applied automatically to all of those existing accounts as well as to all new, Regular Savings Accounts opened after October 1."

He explained that many banking institutions, even savings and loan associations which are empowered to pay 5 1/4% on this type of account, do not, and many of course do not pay interest from day of deposit to day of withdrawal either. "That's why it pays to be selective in making a choice," he said.

Boozar noted that the day in day out method of computing interest is attractive to savers since it makes their plans so much more flexible. There is no waiting to earn interest, and savers don't have to wait until the end of the interest period so they can make a withdrawal without loss of interest either.

It's of continuing benefit to people who like to take advantage of store sales, who buy large ticket items on impulse, and to investors who move in and out of the stock and bond markets," he added.

HILLIER FIRM MOVES

To New Location. The architectural firm of J. Robert Hillier has moved into its new headquarters located at 791 Alexander Road in West Windsor Township, just off of Route 1.

The modern steel and glass building is suspended from four gigantic concrete columns to assure the minimum ecological impact on the Bear Brook flood plain. The two-story high open space office will house all of the activities of the firm, including architecture, planning, model building, interior and graphic design.

The Hillier firm now employs 35 people and is executing projects from New Hampshire to Florida and as far west as Chicago. The firm is also currently designing a new International School in Vienna, Austria. An early spring opening house and dedication is planned.

ACCOUNT AWARDED

To Lenhart Agency. Lenhart Advertising, 353 Nassau Street, has been retained by Horn Enterprises of West Orange to create and produce a comprehensive advertising and public relations program.

The Horn Family Enterprise and its President, Marlin Horn, his daughter and two sons, are examples of the American enterprise system. Pal's Cabin, one of its several restaurants, was originally a "hot dawg" stand which Martin Horn and Roy Sale started during the depression year of 1932.

In Horatio Alger fashion, Mr. Horn satisfied the public's desire for quality food and service and also added luxurious atmosphere when he developed the old and time-worn Mayfair Club into "Mayfair Farms," a successful establishment which hosts wedding receptions and parties and caters to a wide variety of off - premises social events.

One small hot dog stand has grown into a complex, consisting of "Mayfair Farms," "Pal's Aweigh" in Sea Girl the Horn Family Restaurants and, of course, "Pal's Cabin."

News Of The CHURCHES

ANNIVERSARY CONTINUES
At Kingston Presbyterian, A special Harvest Homecoming celebration will help mark the 250th anniversary of the Kingston Presbyterian Church Sunday, beginning at 11 a.m. with a worship service led by former pastor, the Rev. Henry Heaps of Duellen. It will be followed by a dinner adapted from a 1723 Harvest Home menu.

Most members will wear costumes of the 18th and 19th centuries. Children will participate in games of that period also.

Following dinner, a Celebration in Music will be presented by the United Voices of Princeton Choir, completing the day-long festival.

The church of nearly 400 members was first organized in 1723 in a log building near the Millstone River. It was then moved to a frame building near the river, and later a building in the Kingston Cemetery. Records do not show the exact date it was moved, but the oldest legible stone in the cemetery is dated 1756.

It was past this little church that George Washington and the American troops eluded the British after the Battle of Princeton by marching off to the left, down the road leading to Rocky Hill, while the British proceeded on the main road to New Brunswick.

INMATES TO SPEAK
At Princeton Seminary. Several inmates from the Trenton State Prison will spend next Tuesday in Princeton, meeting with students from the Princeton Theological Seminary and Princeton University.

The visit has been arranged by the Prison Service Committee of Mercer County and will take place at the Seminary.

Inmates will meet students at 1:15 in room 202 in Speer Library as part of Dr. Dean Hoge's class, "Religion and Society." At 3:30 they will be present in the Stevenson Lounge of the Seminary's student center. For more information call Mary Reeves, 452-8410.

KOREAN CHURCH FORMED
For Central Jersey, Princeton's newest church worshiped for the first time last Sunday. It is the Korean Christians of Central New Jersey, and it will meet the first and third Sundays of the month at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Pastor of the church is the Rev. Sunghyun Hong, formerly pastor of the oldest and second largest church in Korea and now a doctoral candidate at Princeton Theological Seminary.

More than 100 Korean family units and many single students live in the Central New Jersey area. About 30 families live in Princeton. Attendance at the first service was 59 adults and 29 children.

Goals of the new church are (1.) to worship God; (2.) to evangelize non-Christian Koreans in the area; (3.) To promote fellowship among Korean peoples and between the American and Korean peoples; (4.) to care for those in trouble; and (5.) to educate the children with Christian education and teach them the Korean language.

Assisting the new mission are the Reverends Joseph O. Rand and Mac C. Wells of Nassau Presbyterian and Dr. Nicholas Van Dyck of the Seminary.

COUNSELING OFFERED
At Mt. Pisgah Church. Local black ministers, the NAA-CP, Princeton Youth Center, and staff members from Educational Testing Service will sponsor an educational and vocational counseling session called "A Day for Your Future," Thursday, October 18, at Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church.

Community Invited to Sukkot Festival This Friday

The Princeton Interfaith Council is sponsoring a visit to The Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street, this Friday evening at 8:15 on the occasion of Sukkot, Festival of Rejoicing. Members of all area churches and any interested residents of the community are welcome.

Sukkot is one of the three pilgrimage festivals mentioned in the Pentateuch and is a festival of thanksgiving for both the divine blessing of the produce of the field and the divine protection of the Israelites during the 40 years wandering in the wilderness.

It is marked by the use of an outdoor booth in which Jewish families are congregated to "dwell," by the use of the palm branch and citron at home and in the synagogue, and by the joyous completion of the annual cycle of reading the Five Books of Moses from the hand-written Torah scroll.

All of these ritual objects will be demonstrated and explained on Friday evening. Refreshments will be served in the sukkah.

This event is under the sponsorship of the Worship Committee of the Council headed by the Rev. Floyd Rhodes of Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church. Chairman of the entire Council is the Rev. Kenneth Dannenbauer of Christ Congregation.

170 Witherspoon Street.
Sessions for Princeton High School students will be held from 8:30-11 a.m. and from 1:20-3 p.m.

A short orientation film will be shown October 17 at the high school to help prepare students to utilize the program. Adults considering enrolling in college are also encouraged to attend the sessions.

Students will be able to talk with admission officers and college students, and representatives from the building and construction trades and other vocational areas.

Participating colleges include Douglass College, Lincoln University, Cheney State College, Princeton University, Newark College of Engineering, Rutgers University, Mercer County Community College and the Stevens Institute of Technology.

Call 924-9017 or 924-0996 for further information.

AUCTION SCHEDULED

By Pennington Presbyterians. The third annual "Bid 'n' Buy" auction and appraisal sponsored by the Pennington Presbyterian Church begins at 9 a.m. Saturday, October 20.

A silent auction, bake sale and refreshment stand also will be featured.

Merchandise for the auction may be donated or sold at a percentage. Articles may be left at the church this Saturday morning, or evenings during the week from 7-9. For further information call 737-1569 or 737-3234.

By Trinity Church. For four weeks, beginning Thursday, October 11, at 8:15 p.m., Trinity Church will offer seminars on Transactional Analysis, the "system" made popular by Thomas Harris' book "I'm Okay, You're Okay."

The course to be led by The Rev. James R. Whittemore, Rector of Trinity Church, and Dr. Han van den Blink, Clinical Director of Trinity Counseling Service, will combine lectures, discussion, and some practice of transactional analysis techniques.

The series, open to the community, will meet in the church's Pierce Hall. For further information, call the Church office, 924-2277.

PDS LOSES FIRST

In Soccer. Lawrenceville School's varsity soccer team came from behind to tie Princeton Day School 1-1 in the third period, then scored on a penalty kick in the final stanza to squeak by the Panthers 2-1 Monday afternoon.

It was PDS' first loss of the season and only its third loss in three years. The Blue and White, now 4-1, play at Hun today (Wednesday).

The Lawrenceville game featured superb short passing by both teams. PDS, state class "B" finalists two years in a row (champions in 1971), took a 1-0 lead over their "A" division opponents when wing Evan Bash scored early in the third period on a pass from Fran Treves.

Late in the third period PDS goalie Bill McClellan momentarily bobbed a high shot and the Larries netted it from a scramble in front of the goal. Lawrenceville picked up the winning goal on a penalty shot, then withstood a strong PDS attack to hold on to the win.

Two Victories. The Panthers picked up season wins three and four last week, pinning a 3-1 loss on a weaker Delbarton club Wednesday, then beating Rutgers Prep 2-1 on a windswept field in New Brunswick.

PDS led Delbarton 2-1 at the half on scores by Ted Brown assisted by Evan Bash and by David Straut on a pass from Gary Salup. Coach Peter Rutenheim played his reserves the entire second half, and Fran Treves supplied the third score. Unassisted Delbarton's only goal came late in the fourth period.

At New Brunswick Friday halfback Greg Bash gave PDS an early 1-0 lead on a penalty kick, but Rutgers Prep, playing a physical game, evened the score in the second period. The Panthers took command of the game, but not of the score in the third period, peppering the Rutgers Prep goalie with nine of their 20 shots for the day. Bash scored the winning tally on another penalty kick in the fourth period.

The Panthers wind up the tough middle of their schedule Friday when they meet Freddie at home at 3:45 and play a highly touted Morris-town Beard team Monday, also at home at 3:45.

KUNZ, METCALF VICTORS

In Carnegie Races Sunday. Light to non-existent breezes again plagued the Carnegie Sailing Club on Sunday, bringing out only two skippers in one of the lowest turnouts in recent years.

In the Sunfish class John Kunz Jr. captured two firsts in three races to finish on top for the day, followed by Jim McPherson and Dan Mazzarella. Ed Metcalf took three firsts in the Laser class in an impressive light air performance as Bob Holzman finished second.

After five weeks of the 13-week fall season, the top three skippers in the Lasers are Metcalf, John Henderson, and Bob Holzman. In the Sunfish, several skippers with the best averages have not sailed enough races to qualify. Among the qualifiers John Hopfield is first, McPherson second, Mazzarella third, and Dick Hill fourth.

INFLATION RANKS FIRST

Following is the text of the "Washington Letter" from Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, the Princeton area's Congressman, on results of the poll he made of voters earlier this year.

In Frelinghuysen Poll. Recently I mailed out a questionnaire to constituents in New Jersey's Fifth Congressional District in order to find out what is on the minds of the people and how they feel about a number of key national issues. The reaction to the questionnaire has been outstanding, and I have computed the results of almost 40,000

Another Gogolak?

Leroy Huonngahake, 11, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leroy H. Huonngahake, 154 Dudds Lane can run, pass and kick a football better than any other 11-year-old around.

Young Huonngahake will compete Saturday in Philadelphia's Veteran Stadium in the Puot, Pass and Kick competition. Sponsored here by Nassau-Conover Motor Company and nationally by Ford and the National Football League.

Huonngahake was one of six winners two weeks ago in competition held at Marquand Park for boys 8 to 13. Last week, he was the lone boy from Princeton to triumph in the zone competition held in Mount Holly. Bill Hart finished second in the 12-year old division, as did Barry Turner in the 13-year old division.

responses which have been mailed back to my office.

One of the most interesting features of the questionnaire asks the respondents to list the three issues they consider to be of the highest national priority. The results show that of the ten choices available, 85 percent mention controlling inflation as the number one priority.

The other issues mentioned are listed in order of priority as crime control, 49 percent; energy crises, 41 percent; pollution control, 39 percent; drug abuse, 17 percent; Watergate, 17 percent; defense spending, 16 percent; health care, 16 percent; education 12 percent; and the war in Indochina, 8 percent. All percent ages have been rounded off to the next highest number. (percentages amount to greater than 100 because each respondent had three choices.)

These results are significant for a number of reasons. In particular, it is obvious that Watergate has taken a "back seat" to energy crisis as the greatest concern to Fifth District residents.

This, of course, does not mean that citizens are unconcerned with the Watergate affair, nor does it mean that they approve of the tragic and disturbing events that comprised it. However, the results do demonstrate that the skyrocketing price of food and other products as well as the threat of fuel shortages this winter are of far greater immediate concern to most citizens than the events of the last Presidential campaign.

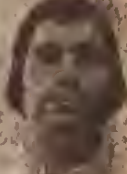

On an issue relating to some of the broader questions raised by Watergate, 91 percent of the respondents believe that there should be "tighter laws on disclosure" of campaign finances and that there should be "further limitations on campaign finances and that there should be "further limitations on campaign spending," whereas only four percent were opposed and five percent uncertain.

In relation to the important question of confidence in our governmental institutions, the results show that 33 percent of the Fifth District residents have "confidence in the way the President is handling his responsibilities," while 55 percent do not and 12 percent are uncertain. Equally significant, only 31 percent of the people "have confidence in the way Congress is handling its responsibilities," whereas 47 percent express a lack of confidence and 22 percent have no opinion.

On issues that were mentioned to be among the highest priority concerns, the respondents indicate that we should continue to press for clean air and water. Sixty six percent say that we should "push ahead with tough standards regardless of higher costs and/or taxes," while only 21 percent disagree and 13 percent are not sure.

Among other questions that were asked, 80 percent believe that "all guns should be registered;" 58 percent believe that we should "enact the President's special revenue sharing programs;" 73 percent feel that workers on strike should be denied eligibility for food stamps, and 65 percent believe that "Congress should adopt an annual spending ceiling even at the expense of existing programs."

I am pleased to have these results as one indication of the views of my constituents. While not reporting on all of the questions asked, I intend to report them in full in a special District-wide mailing to all Fifth District residents in the near future.

What is a mortgage? It consists of two legal documents, signed by the borrower. The first pledges the property being bought as security for borrowed funds. The second part is the bond or note, which is your promise as a borrower to repay borrowed funds in the prescribed period of time and at the prescribed rate of interest. Therefore, when you sign a mortgage, you have both pledged your property as security, and promised to repay the amount borrowed.

Answers to your real estate questions are available at WALTER B. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. (924-0095), Pennington (737-3301) & W. Windsor (799-1100) in business since 1885. Open 9-9. Sat. 9-5. Sun. 1-5. Personalized Service.

Contemporary Mediterranean Villa

A unique contemporary villa is just a few minutes from downtown Princeton yet nestled in a Montgomery Township country setting overlooking a delightful stocked brook. Creatively designed and custom built the home is centered on a magnificent indoor 30'x60' atrium-greenhouse where a heated pool, fig tree, palms, and even a blooming bird of paradise can whisk one away to the Riviera or even St. Thomas. Opening on the courtyard is a living room with fireplace, dining room, family room with fireplace, eat-in kitchen and master suite with separate dressing areas and baths. There are 4 or 5 bedrooms in all and a three car garage. One of the few homes in this area where when winter comes you can love it or leave it. $155,000

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP FARM NEAR PRINCETON

In the scenic Canal Road area on the way to Griggstown is a 46 acre tract with a fascinating remodelled building that could have been an early stagecoach stop.

The main building is renovated throughout and is currently divided into four rental units. The owner's apartment has a large eat-in kitchen, dining room, living room, three bedrooms and bath. The three tenant's units are one bedroom apartments each with an eat-in kitchen and living room.

The outbuildings include a two car garage with storage area, and a handsome red barn with six box stalls and six straight running water and septic provisions for future use. The extensive white paddock, pony ring, and cleared hayfield make the property an excellent investment for the racing enthusiast.

The exceptional land has good frontage and is significantly cleared yet wooded enough so that development is facilitated for the potential builder of fine homes in a semi-wooded setting. Zoning is currently 1½ acre. Fronting on open space in a historic area.
